"Man of Many Mishaps" Adds To List of Injuries

J W Spawn of Prospect Still Thinks He's Lucky Despite Accidents

JESSE W SPAWN "The Man of Many Mishaps" is injured again.

This time it's a combination of four broken ribs and a wrenched hip suffered in an automobile accident last Friday that has him bedfast and the doctors say he'll be down for six weeks.

However this is only a small chapter in the accident record of the 48-year-old produce farmer living one and one-half miles south of Prospect.

In the last 19 years Spawn has been in the hospital on approximately 20 different occasions, has had four narrow escapes from death and has been injured innumerable times.

Still he thinks he's lucky.

"If I hadn't been lucky I would have been killed several times. I'm still here and I've got a nice home," he said when someone offered sympathy. "No, I wouldn't say I've had bad luck—I'd say it's been good."

Eight years ago Spawn attracted widespread attention and earned the obriquet of "The Man of Many Mishaps" when his record of injuries became impressive. Misfortune has continued to shadow him. "I've had five accidents and two operations since that story was written about my hard luck back in 1929," Spawn said when a reporter visited his farm home.

Another Narrow Escape

Friday's automobile accident which goes into Spawn's records as another narrow escape from death has the distinction of being the only automobile collision in which Spawn ever was injured. He'd been hurt before by automobiles and trucks but in no previous case was he in an automobile when a mishap occurred.

The automobile plunged over a 12-foot embankment, Spawn said, and the only thing credited with saving his life is the fact that the car fell on a large pile of fencing wire, breaking the force of the fall.

Spawn's career of bad luck began when he took employment with the B & O railroad at Chicago Junction on Jan 1 1918. He went to work at night and by 3 a m the next day he went to the hospital with a crushed right hand, several broken ribs on the right side and other injuries suffered when caught between two freight cars. He was disabled three months.

Three nights after he returned to work he was rushed to City hospital for an emergency opera-

Jesse Spawn had to wear the metal corset in which he is shown for three years to treat one of the long list of injuries he has suffered in a period of 19 years. It helped him recover from two spine injuries that doctors said would rob him of the use of his legs.

SPAWN'S 19 YEAR RECORD LISTED

Jesse Spawn's 19-year period of experience with the accident jinx are summed up as follows:

Hand injured, ribs broken in railroad accident. Operation for appendicitis. Operation for abscess resulting from incision. Skull and spine fractured in railroad accident resulting in four-year disability, part of which was spent in a metal corset. Ribs fractured in horse race. Chest and stomach crushed when horse fell. Operation for gall stones.

Run down by hit-skip motorist, shoulder and hip broken. Operation to reset shoulder fracture. Overcome by heat in haymow. Kicked by horse, ribs broken. Fell twice from haymow, spending three months in hospital after each fall. Slipped on ice and fell causing back injury. Stomach hemorrhages. Automobile accident, four ribs broken and hip bruised.

BUMPER WHEAT CROP PREDICTED FOR OHIO

Yield of 49,794,000 Bushels Forecast, 10,000,000 Increase from Last Year

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O July 12—Glenn Ray federal crop statistician today estimated Ohio's wheat crop at a probable 49,794,000 bushels this year, nearly 10,000,000 bushels higher than 1936 and 60 per cent greater than the 10-year average.

The estimate based on conditions as of July 1 was slightly lower than that of June 1 because of heavy rains in the past month.

A bumper crop still is in prospect however Ray said.

The 10-year average production from 1923 to 1932 was 31,353,000.

Acreage this year was placed at 2,429,000 compared with 2,169,000 in 1936.

Other Ohio crop reports and a detailed survey of the wheat situation probably will not be completed before tomorrow, the statistician said.

C. B. KLING DIES AT HOME HERE

Had Never Recovered From Broken Hip Suffered Last August 19

FUNERAL TO BE TUESDAY

Was Retired Hardware Merchant and Member of Pioneer Marion Family

Death claimed Clifford Bouton Kling 76, retired Marion hardware dealer and member of one of the county's most prominent families, yesterday at 5:30 a m at the home at 254 East Center street.

In failing health since last summer Mr Kling never recovered from a fall last August 19 in which his left hip was fractured.

Mr Kling was a brother of Mrs Warren G Harding and the home where he died was the old family home purchased by their father the late Amos H Kling soon after it was built and considered one of the finest of Marion's old residences.

For a period of 27 years, approximately a quarter of a century ago Mr Kling was in the hardware business firm with Harvey Wilson under the firm name of Kling & Wilson. After Mr Wilson's death the firm continued under the same name with his son the late Earle P Wilson as the partner.

After his retirement from business 25 years ago Mr Kling spent most of his time at Rockledge Fla, although several years were given over to managing business interests for his father.

Mr Kling's father was one of the wealthiest and most influential residents of Marion county coming here from Lancaster county in Pennsylvania. He was a member of Wallace Watkins & Kling, importers of Norman French horses, holder of considerable railroad stocks, a part owner of Hotel Marion, a member of the planning committee for the present Marion county court house and was one of the men influential in developing Marion as a railroad center.

Mr Kling was born in Marion on Oct. 30 1861. His mother Louise Bouton Kling was a native of Connecticut. He was married in Marion in 1886 to Miss Susie Busby Wallace, a member of one of the old families of the city.

Surviving with the widow are two daughters Mrs Frank Longshore of 339 East Church street and Miss Louise Kling at home and one brother Vetallis H Kling of 643 Ballentine avenue.

Mr Kling was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

The funeral will be conducted Tuesday at 4 p m at the home by Rev S S Hardy, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church. Burial will be made on the family lot in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the home tonight. The family has asked that no flowers be sent.

HEART ATTACK FATAL

TWO KILLED, 6 HURT BY SHOTS OF POLICE, CIO

Gunfire Continues Nearly an Hour at Massillon Union Headquarters

141 MEN THROWN IN JAIL

Former Steel Worker One of Two Victims Boosting Strike Toll to 15

By The Associated Press

MASSILLON O July 12—Two men died today of bullet wounds received in a clash between police and strikers near a steel workers organizing committee headquarters here, bringing to 15 the toll of the seven-week old steel strike.

Six other persons were wounded in the clash. Police arrested 141 men charging them with suspicion and disorderly conduct or holding them on open charges for investigation.

Eugencio Cazada, identified as a native of Mexico and a former Republic mill employe, was the first to die. Coroner Edward Reno said a 38 caliber revolver bullet crashed through the back of Cazada's head.

Nick Valdos 47 died of a gun shot wound in the abdomen several hours after the fighting. Police said they had not determined his affiliations.

Plans went forward meanwhile for the reopening of the last major units of steel mills closed by the strike which at its height made 100,000 men idle in seven states. These are the works of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co at Indiana Harbor Ind where 7,000 workers have been idle.

Guns blazed intermittently for nearly an hour as uniformed and special city police besieged a two-story frame building in and near which strikers had assembled. The structure is located 500 feet from the main entrance to a Republic Steel Corp plant.

More than 100 men were in custody today held in the city and county jail to face possible charges as a result of the outbreak.

Ohio National Guardsmen rushed from Canton—8 miles away—as the battle flared, paced posts they had left only last Friday.

Major H O Curley former army officer named by Police Chief Stanley Switter to aid him during the steel strike, claimed the steel workers started the violence by stoning him and firing upon police.

Harold J Ruttenberg steel workers organizing committee research director charged the officers fired revolvers, shotguns and tear gas shells into strikers and sympathizers without provocation.

Patrolmen Confirm Report

Three patrolmen who participated in the affray confirmed Curley's assertion.

The officers—Leo Kelley, William Fellabom and Austin Kraft—said nearly 200 men gathered outside union headquarters before 11 p m, the hour at which a change of shift is made at Republic's nearby metal alloy division.

An automobile drew to a stop at the curb and played its lights on the assembly, Kelley said.

A shouted order from Curley to the driver to shut off his lights brought a shower of stones from the strikers' midst, Kelley said.

The patrolmen agreed that an unidentified man then stepped from the union's doorway and fired five revolver shots in the direction of Curley and nearly two-score officers who were stationed in the vicinity.

Ruttenberg however declared:

"I stood upon the steps of union offices for several minutes before the deputies, special police and deputized Republic Steel corporation foremen opened fire without provocation."

Officers fired guns and tear gas projectiles toward the union headquarters from prone position and from the shelter of parked automobiles.

Plane Carrier Awaited in Hunt for Lost Fliers

Hope Grows Dim for Finding Miss Earhart and Navigator Noonan

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU July 12—The vast mid-Pacific hunt for Amelia Earhart, missing flyer, believed lost by some naval authorities, was called off today in the isolated Phoenix Islands sector as searchers awaited arrival of an aircraft carrier to open last resort effort.

The carrier Lexington steaming southward from here was expected to reach the search area and launch her brood of 63 planes by Tuesday morning.

Rear Admiral Orin G Murfin 14th naval district commandant announced the navy had completed its fruitless search of the Phoenix island more than 200 miles below the equator and far south of the course Miss Earhart and her navigator had plotted in seeking bleak Howland Island.

The aviatrix and her navigator Frederick J Noonan disappeared July 2 presumably within a short distance of Howland Island, their goal on a 2,570 mile flight from New Guinea.

Arrival at the island would have been the climax of Miss Earhart's "for fun" flight around the world.

Admiral Murfin said the Lexington running far below its top speed had been assigned to mop up areas already scanned by planes from the battleship Colorado and to search other likely regions along the equator.

He said it was possible planes would go to the Gilbert islands nearly 600 miles west of Howland although other searchers held it almost impossible the Earhart plane might have come down that far away.

Admiral Murfin said the Colorado whose three planes have made daily flights over the equatorial sea would head for Pearl Harbor 1,500 miles away after refuelling three destroyers today which were preceding the Lexington.

Fliers from the battleship who have searched thousands of square miles in the Howland area said they had lost hope.

The Lexington which last night was nearly half way to Howland will send out its first planes Tuesday morning said Admiral Murfin.

Attorneys for CIO and Governor Make Opening Statements in Columbus Court

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O July 12—William Haines, a steel striker from Massillon, testified in federal court today that he recognized three Republic Steel employes among the persons using firearms in a riot in Massillon last night.

Haines was a witness called by the Committee for Industrial Organization in its attempt to obtain an injunction against use of National Guardsmen in the strike area.

He said there was nothing to precipitate last night's riot but that seven carloads of police and special deputies drove up to the picket line, set a machine gun so that it pointed at CIO headquarters and threw tear gas among the pickets. Firing then began, Haines said.

The injunction suit is being heard on its merits by Judge Mell G Underwood.

Edward Lamb, CIO attorney, seeking to prevent the governor from continued use of troops deployed in the valley since June 21 declared in his opening statement:

"We will show that persons were threatened and struck with bayonets, that the guardsmen have violated not only legal but human rights."

He detailed purported stopping and searching of automobiles, search of homes without warrants and holding arrested persons incommunicado.

"We will show," he declared, "that all this was done to interfere with our right of collective bargaining and the right of collective activity granted us under the Wagner Labor Relations act.

"We say that the Constitution was completely forgotten. The Constitution has been in operation in almost every part of the United States except the Mahoning valley."

Lamb said Sheriff Ralph Elser

DEATH CLAIMS LAST WYANDOTTE INDIAN

Bill Moose Dies at Columbus; Parents Are Buried at Upper Sandusky.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O., July 12 — Bill Moose, last surviving member of the once numerous Wyandotte Indian tribe of central Ohio, died today in the Franklin county home. He would have been 100 years old in two months.

In failing health for a number of years, his condition was not regarded as serious until a few days ago. Both his parents, Bill said, lived beyond the century mark and it was his ambition to live to be 100.

Bill said his father lived to be 105 and his mother 104. Both are buried at Upper Sandusky.

The last survivor of his tribe entered the county home in 1930 when he was forced by old age to abandon his shack northwest of Columbus. Fire recently destroyed the shack.

VETO QUASHES EXTENDER OF LOW FARM INTEREST

Roosevelt Acts Against Federal Land Bank Measure, Citing Reasons in Message to House.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 12—President Roosevelt vetoed today a bill to extend for two years low interest rates on federal land bank loans.

In a message to the house announcing his action he said the veto was based on a general lowering of farm mortgage interest rates, an increase in the ability of farmers to pay interest and on the administration policy of trying to balance the budget during the fiscal year 1938.

The bill also would broaden the field of loans on which interest reductions were granted by including a 4 per cent rate on land bank commissioner loans. This would be cut from 5 per cent.

Explaining that a majority of these loans were on second mortgages and that there were other "factors of risk" involved, the President said that 5 per cent rate was not excessive.

The bill would have extended through this fiscal year the 3.5 per cent rate on federal land bank loans and through the second year ending June 30, 1939, [illegible] provided a 4 per cent [illegible]

BLAST WRECKS CAR, BREAKS JAIL WINDOWS

Glass in Two Mt Gilead Houses Also Broken, Hole Blown in Street

INVESTIGATION LAUNCHED

Slot Machine Cleanup Seen as Possible Cause of Mysterious Attack

By BOB BYRD

Marion Star Staff Writer

MT GILEAD O July 12—A bomb was exploded under the parked automobile of Sheriff Oscar George at 2:30 a m Sunday.

The vehicle was wrecked and a score of windows blown out in the sheriff's residence and jail and in two houses nearby.

The blast caused a general alarm throughout this Morrow county seat community. It awakened hundreds of persons and scores of them ran out of their homes to learn the cause of the explosion.

Apparently a home-made device packed with nails and made around a beer can was the bomb. It was placed under the right front fender of the sheriff's automobile parked just 20 feet away from a side door to the sheriff's residence which is connected with the jail.

It apparently had a long fuse timed to give the person who placed it there ample time to leave the vicinity.

Sheriff George was at a loss to know the intent of the person or persons who placed the bomb but studied several theories as he and authorities from the state division of criminal identification and investigation began searching for clues.

"It apparently was not intended to hurt anyone because the persons who put it there knew I wouldn't be likely to get into the car at that hour," Sheriff George said. "I suppose it was meant more as a threat or possibly was put there by someone who wanted to 'get even' with me for having tramped on his toes while enforcing the law. However I'm at a loss to know the purpose the bomb was meant to serve."

A recent development to be thoroughly studied for possible connection with the bombing was an order issued by the sheriff last week for removal of slot machines from the county. This followed issuance of a similar order for Mt Gilead by Mayor Frank Gruber.

"I had issued a warning to the operators of business places to have all slot machines out of the county, expecting them to relay the order to the persons who own the machines," Sheriff George said.

"I can't imagine anyone trying to bomb my automobile as a result of that order but there may be some connection. I intend to clean out the slot machines at once and will confiscate any I find. If the bombing had any connection with the slot machine order the operators will soon know my answer."

Authorities also considered the fact that Sheriff George and other Morrow county officials are in the midst of an investigation of the murder of Mrs Caroline Hack 75 at her farm home near Cardington last April. Dozens of persons have been questioned in the course of the investigation but Sheriff George said there had been no recent developments in the investigation that would serve to drive anyone connected with the investigation to the point of placing the bomb.

As the investigation began it also was recalled that a prisoner made veiled threats when he left the jail recently after serving a 20-day sentence, apparently holding the sheriff responsible for the term.

Sheriff George had parked the automobile on the street just east of the sheriff's residence at 11:15 p m Saturday after going to a drug store to get some medicine for one of his four children.

The family retired shortly afterward.

"I was awakened by a terrific blast," Sheriff George said. "Then smoke poured in through the windows." The sheriff ran barefoot to-

F. W. BRADT VICTIM OF SUDDEN DEATH

Former Erie Yardmaster Stricken at Daughter's Home on Lake St

Fred W Bradt 57, Erie railroad yardmaster here for nearly 17 years and recently promoted to agent at Endicott N Y, died suddenly of an angina pectoris attack yesterday morning at the home of his daughter Mrs R L Acker of 138 Lake street.

On a short vacation Mr Bradt had returned to Marion to close his home at 261 South State street and expected to go to Endicott with Mrs Bradt this morning. They were staying at their daughter's home and were dressing to attend services at Epworth M E church when Mr Bradt was stricken at 9:45 a m. Two physicians were called but he was dead when they arrived. They said death had been instant.

Mr Bradt began his service with the Erie railroad on April 8 1920 when he was hired as yardmaster at Jersey City N J. On Oct 1 of the same year he was transferred to Marion in the same capacity, and worked here until March 1 of this year when he was promoted to the position of agent at Endicott. He was yardmaster for the Delaware & Hudson railroad in Jersey City before entering the Erie employ.

Surviving with the widow and daughter are a son Harold L Bradt of Ashland O and three grandchildren, Richard, Gordon and Phyllis Acker.

Mr Bradt was a member of Epworth M E church of Marion, Irem Shrine in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and the Masonic Blue lodge and Knights Templar in Binghamton, N. Y.

He was born April 21, 1880 at Oneonta, N. Y., to William L. and Elizabeth Manchester Bradt, natives of New York state. His marriage to Miss Myrtle Cain took place on June 5, 1901, in Binghamton.

The funeral will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the home at 261 South State street by Rev Lawrence A Wood of Trinity Baptist church. Burial will be made in the Marion cemetery. Friends may view the body at the South State street home.

MARION WINS THREE OUT OF FOUR GAMES

From [illegible] the ball game. Three walks three hits a fielder's error and seven bases were combined to give the visitors the winning margin

Norris Lancaster and Spence saw action on the mound in the second game and managed to keep the Fremonters 11 hits well scattered. Kauffman Geyken and Musshill shared hitting honors in the Saturday night tilt each getting a pair of hits. Geykan slapped one over the left field fence in the fifth inning to score three runs and give Marion a 7 to 5 lead going into the sixth frame. Another trio of runs in the sixth inning when Stiewe and Prich walked, Platek doubled and Savel singled iced the game for Marion

Canada Forges New Link in Britain's Life Lines

By The Associated Press

OTTAWA, July 12—As the [illegible] Caledonia, har- [illegible] -Atlantic passenger [illegible] ned for a return [illegible] from New York [illegible] of Canada [illegible] another link in Great Britain's new empire "life lines."

British air lines extend more than half way around the world.

They link London with Australia and, when the service between Europe and the United States is established on regular schedule in a few months, will cement a route of air communication between London and the American dominion.

Late this month survey flights will be started for a trans-continental air line between Halifax and Vancouver.

That completed, a projected air line between Vancouver, New Zealand and Australia across the Pacific will be explored, and British flying craft will have belted the world to establish a "life line" augmenting the sea routes of a kingdom on which the sun never sets.

The trans-Canada air line, the next step in completion of the British 'round-the-world air route, has been talked of for years, but not until empire flying boats began spanning the Atlantic on survey flights was a date set to choose landing sites and establish terminal facilities.

By the end of the summer scheduled operations are expected to begin on the Winnipeg-Vancouver portion of the trans-Canada line. Within eight or nine months after the western half of the line starts carrying passengers, mail and express, service is expected to begin on the eastern half.

Plans have been placed before the governments of the United Kingdom and the dominions for the projected trans-Pacific service to the antipodes. International arrangements to permit the landing of British craft at west coast United States ports and at Honolulu are under discussion.

From Honolulu Britons could drop sharply south about 1,000 miles to Fanning island, British possession, over the Phoenix group—where the search for Amelia Earhart was conducted—less than 1,000 miles more. Into the Samoan islands about 700 miles south of there, and then 1,200 miles to New Zealand.

To the East Imperial Airways already serve most of Europe, Egypt, Africa, Iraq, India, Malaya, Hong Kong and Australia. A new air mail service over a 7,260-mile route between London and South Africa was inaugurated last week.

Hearing.

PERSONS WHO possess acute hearing power are indeed fortunate, little do they realize the marked discomfort, the real handicap of impaired hearing. The advantage of being able clearly to hear the spoken word and to enjoy the musical notes is indeed a pleasure that can not be measured.

There are millions in this country known to be hard of hearing. It is most distressing to learn that about three million of these are school children. In many instances, impaired hearing or profound deafness follows carelessness or neglect.

Like other marvelous and delicate mechanisms, the organ of hearing is easily thrown out of gear if abused or deprived of needed attention. Then it fails satisfactorily to perform its work, or may be utterly unable to function.

Let me tell you some thing about the human ear. It is made up of three parts, an outer, middle and inner portion. The outer part consists of the outside ear and a widening and twisting corridor, called the external canal. This canal leads from the outside world to a membrane known as the ear drum.

The real mechanism which makes hearing possible is safely tucked away in the bony skull near the brain. It must be reached by the sound waves which approach the ear and are carried into the external canal. First they strike the ear drum and cause it to vibrate.

On the other side of the ear drum is that region known as the middle ear. In this space is a bridge of three tiny bones that carry the vibrations to the inner ear. Within the latter are the tiny endings of the nerve of hearing, the auditory nerve, that pick up the vibrations. Here the vibrations are converted into nerve impulses that, in turn, send the sound message direct to the brain. Then by the operations of that wonderful structure, we become aware of the message and come to understand it.

Shortly after birth the child's hearing ability begins to function. It is closely associated with the development of voice and speech. When the baby first cries, he sets up vibrations within his middle ear. Gradually there develops a sense of hearing and an understanding of sound.

IT'S ODD
But It's Science

BY HOWARD BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Minds and metals, when under high pressure, have a strange similarity.

Minds too hard pressed cause men to be angry, to growl and snap—or to be excited and screech and snarl—or to be deadly earnest. Listen, now to a description of metals under a shearing pressure of 700,000 pounds to the square inch in the laboratory of Dr. P. W. Bridgman, Harvard university. He says:

"Some substances chatter, others squeak, others make a grinding noise and one has been found to hiss. Most important is snapping."

The "protests," as Dr. Bridgman calls these noises, depend directly on the atomic and crystalline structure of the metal. The scientific explanation of the metals reads not so different from man's commonest ideas of mind structure.

Track for model railroads has been invented in a flexible form that can be laid in any direction desired.

MILK, NOT COCKTAIL

Blond and beautiful Isabelle Hallin, above, 25, Saugus, Mass., school teacher, was cleared of school board charges that she served cigarets and cocktails while rehearsing the senior class play in her father's home. She termed the accusation "nonsense" and here drinks a glass of milk to emphasize her stand. She flirted with two offers for screen tests received from New York agents.

LUTHERAN MISSION MEETS AT GALION

Special to The Star

GALION, July 12—The Junior Mission Band held its regular meeting Saturday afternoon at the Peace Lutheran parish house. Entertainment included a piano number by Richard Durtschi, and a reading by Annabelle Chapman. The sponsor, Leila Wittibslager, was in charge of the meeting and provided refreshments.

In honor of Mrs. M. A. Povenmire who leaves with her husband soon for Coshocton, a farewell party was given by Mrs. O. E. Hill, wife of the Galion superintendent of schools, Friday night. The guests were wives of the faculty members of the Galion schools. Bridge games were played at three tables, and Mrs. Povenmire won the low score gift. The high score prize was won by Mrs. D. D. Montoya.

PRIMITIVE WATER UTILITY

A chronicler of the early days at Zanesville tells of a curious combination of crude water utility and fire control system there. At first the housewives of the village took their clothes to the island lying between McIntyre's millrace and the Muskingum river, to wash them.

But this involved carrying the clothes to and from the home to the island, and so when Stephen Burwell established a waterwagon, his enterprise broke up the island laundry.

The city at large found it necessary to provide water for fire extinguishing uses. The first water cartman to arrive at the scene of the fire was to be paid a bonus. This resulted in competition, and there were many exhibitions of speed on the part of the rival water cartmen.

KALTENBORN EDITS THE NEWS

Read H. V. KALTENBORN'S Version of What Happened to a Beechhurst, New York, Motorist

IT WAS nearing 2 P. M. The Whitestone Road was thick with a fast-moving stream of motorists. But Mr. Mitchell of Beechhurst, New York, scarcely saw them. All he had were visions of an hour in the dentist's chair. He could almost hear the be-zz-zz of the drill when, suddenly, he heard something he was least expecting—BANG! A blow-out! The car bolted off the road. Mitchell sat helpless at the wheel. With a lunge, he grabbed for the emergency brake. But it was too late. A telegraph pole put a stop to the wild ride, leaving Mr. Mitchell with a crumpled car bumper—and plenty of regrets.

H. V. KALTENBORN

Motorists seldom realize until they have a blow-out that when the accelerator goes down, the heat inside the tire goes up. That's why Goodrich engineers developed the Life-Saver Golden Ply which is found in all Silvertowns. This exclusive Goodrich invention is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist the terrific blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds. By resisting this internal tire heat, the Life-Saver Golden Ply protects you against those dangerous, high speed blow-outs.

It didn't take Mr. Mitchell long to equip his car with these Golden Ply Silvertowns. Remember, it's better to be safe than sorry! Don't delay. Come in today for a set of these life-saving tires. They cost less than other super-quality tires.

LONG, EASY PAY TERMS!

Here's a special credit plan originated by Goodrich that's different and easier than any you've ever used because there's no red tape, no delay, either. Just select what you need, show your license identification. Your first-quality factory-fresh Goodrich merchandise is installed "on the spot." Try us once. See how easy it is to buy and pay the Goodrich Way. It's "tuned to the times."

Lenore Kight Wingard—a champion of champions—with 7 world's and 16 national free-style swimming records to her credit

Lenore Kight Wingard shows her record-breaking technique. Notice the foaming "bow-wave" she pushes up in front—a sure sign of a powerful swimmer.

This picture gives you a good idea of how a champion does the crawl. Lenore's leg drive, pivoted at the hips, is in perfect rhythm with her vigorous arm stroke. The result is smooth, streamlined speed—record-breaking speed!

From starting gun to finish line, Lenore's under tension. As pictured at right, even her breathing must be timed to a split second.

Even after an 880-yard race, Lenore comes up smiling. In choosing her cigarette, she pays particular attention to mildness. "I've found I can smoke Camels as often as I like, thanks to their mildness," she says.

(Right) OVER HER AFTER-DINNER CAMELS, LENORE WINGARD SAYS: "'For digestion's sake—smoke Camels,' is a rule with me. They help me to enjoy my food, even when I feel tired or tense. Smoking Camels seems to put me in just the right mood at mealtimes and helps me to have a feeling of well-being afterward. Camels set me right!" Because Camels are so mild—and made from such costly tobaccos—you can smoke them steadily, without jangled nerves. At mealtimes, Camels encourage a free flow of digestive fluids—alkaline digestive fluids—and lend a helping hand to good digestion.

MRS. ANDREWS DIES AT HOME

Wife of Former Mayor, Once Matron of Orphans' Home, Passes Away.

Mrs. May Frances Andrews, 64, wife of Lt. Col. Thomas E. Andrews, former matron of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans home at Xenia and active in Marion patriotic auxiliaries, died today at 2:20 a. m. at the home on East Fairground street following a seven months' illness.

Ill most of the winter, Mrs. Andrews' condition became grave Saturday and her husband was called home from Camp Perry where, as a Reserve Officer, he had gone for a two weeks military period.

Mrs. Andrews and her husband were matron and superintendent respectively, of the Xenia home for a period of three years about 12 years ago.

Mrs. Andrews was a member of the Trinity Baptist church, Betsy Ross auxiliary to the United Spanish War Veterans, the auxiliary to Fred McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, and [illegible] Chapter No. 57, Order of Eastern Star.

She was a past president of Betsy Ross auxiliary and for the last two years had been chairman of the Legion auxiliary welfare department.

Colonel Andrews saw service in the Spanish-American war, on the Mexican border and was stationed at the government locks at Sault Ste. Marie during the World war. He was mayor of Marion during the Harding campaign and is a former state representative. Both he and his wife are well known in military and auxiliary circles.

Mrs. Andrews was a lifelong resident of the county. She was born Dec. 21, 1872 to Thomas B. Roberts, a native of Wales, and Clarissa C. Snyder Roberts, a native of Marion. She was married on Nov. 23, 1898. She was a graduate of the old Marion high school and attended Hillsdale college at Hillsdale, Mich.

Surviving with the husband are two sisters, Mrs. W. D. Drake of Columbus and Mrs. A. G. Uncapher of 435 North Main street.

The funeral will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street by Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor of Trinity church. Burial will be made in the Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the Andrews home tonight and until 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, and at the funeral home from 11 a. m. until service time.

GERSHWIN DIES

GEORGE GERSHWIN

"RHAPSODY IN BLUE" COMPOSER STRICKEN

Death Takes Writer Who Bridged Gap Between Jazz and Classics.

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 12—Death, striking swiftly, has ended the career of George Gershwin, whose "Rhapsody in Blue" lifted jazz music from Tin Pan alley to the level of the classics.

He came up from a $15 a week song plugger to compose scores for film musicals at a reputed $250,000 a year. He was a Pulitzer prize winner.

Putting it another way, Pandro S. Berman, who directed Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in a picture as they danced to Gershwin's songs, said: "He was a supreme artist in his rare ability to link classical music with the swift tempo of today."

Gershwin was 38. He died here yesterday of a brain tumor, after a hurried, futile operation. One specialist had flown here from Berkeley and another, Dr. Walter Dandy of Baltimore, was ready to fly from New York.

He and Ira Gershwin, his brother, who writes lyrics, were working on the music for a new motion picture, "Goldwyn Follies." An illness of a few days before had been accepted as a nervous breakdown. Saturday he lapsed into a coma from which he did not emerge. The body was sent to New York today for funeral services and burial. Memorial services will be held here Thursday.

Gershwin was born in Brooklyn. He showed his first interest in music at the age of 10 and received a meager education in it. At 19 he wrote his first musical comedy, "La La, Lucille," and there followed the scores for five of George White's Scandals.

His best known work, "Rhapsody in Blue," had its premiere in 1923 at Aeolian Hall, with the aid of Paul Whiteman's night club band. Lovers of the classic had come to sniff, but when Gershwin and Whiteman finished, they rose to cheer. The blue rhapsody bridged a gap between jazz and the classics.

MONDAY, - - - - - - JULY 12, 1937

All Brothers.

Rep. Hamilton Fish, who really isn't a preacher, has been doing a neat job of sermoning on the text of rendering unto Caesar that which is Caesar's.

If tax avoiders are going to be held up to ridicule, urges Rep. Fish, let us treat all of them alike, as good Christians would do.

For instance, let us look at the tax returns of President Roosevelt, who says it is sinful to avoid taxation. Let us look at the returns of his wife, his children and the returns of his sisters and his cousins and his aunts, if necessary.

Let us look, also, at the returns of cabinet officials. Let us not choose between contributors to the Democratic and Republican party when looking at returns, furthermore. In fact, let's do the thing right, and we shall find that all men are pretty much alike in the matter of not paying any more taxes than necessary and that to impugn the honesty of one group of men as against that of another group in question of taxation is to make the error of assuming that men somehow become different by bearing different family names, belonging to different political parties etc. Amen, Brother Fish.

When There's Time.

The country's all ears for the senate debate on court packing. Senators are in rare form already, and the orating scarcely has begun.

In the capital they're saying it's like old times when congressmen earned their money by something more arduous than voting "Yes" on White House measures and "No" on everything else.

There's something the public would like to hear when the debaters get warmed up—a request number. How would packing the court improve it?

This matter has come up because the only improvement the packers have mentioned is that of creating a new deal majority on the supreme bench—a judicial rubber stamp to match the legislative one. That's improvement only from the viewpoint of new dealers who want to pack the supreme court, and they are a small minority.

So when there's time, the country would find it interesting to hear the official version of how court packing would make the court better than it is now, not from the standpoint of establishing a new political order, but from the standpoint of improving the judiciary. Or hasn't any version been hatched up yet?

Pruning.

Gov. Davey, who knows something about pruning, himself, has taken the position that a band of resolutes in the legislature knows nothing about it. He calls them "hatchet men," which may be a tree pruner's synonym for "butchers" as surgeons use it to describe other surgeons who cut too much and too freely.

The pruning business, however, always has been a fight. No two pruners ever agree on how far to go. While one advises lopping off almost everything, another thinks only a little should come off here and there. The argument runs on endlessly. But here is the significant thing.

Rarely do the dire consequences predicted ever come to pass. The trees and the vines which have been pruned too much, or not enough, nearly always grow. Governments whose budgets have been pared to the bone hardly ever collapse. Departments with curtailed appropriations scarcely, if ever, cease functioning.

Therefore, $5,000,000 taken out of a $90,000,000 budget by the "hatchet men" in Columbus probably won't put Ohio or the Davey administration on the rocks. Saying it will do so is not flattering to the state's intelligence.

Here, Read This!

If, some times, the neutral workman seems to be in the grip of opposing factions threatening to tear him in two for his own good, it must be because in many cases that's what really is happening.

In the hearings on the national labor relations board complaint against the Ford Motor Co., the key to the situation under discussion is a riot which occurred one day near a company gate when unionists tried to pass out CIO literature to Ford employes.

The union charges its agents were assaulted, that it was opposed in distributing literature and so on. It is admitted that its agents were assaulted and opposed, but whether the company is responsible for that or whether the federal government has any jurisdiction over such a thing remain to be determined.

Mr. Henry Ford, too, has distributed pamphlets among his employes in the fight to organize them. He insists it is his constitutional right to do so, and no one seriously would argue that point.

But what about the employes who are the victims of all this rival pamphleteering? Probably no one has bothered about their rights, but no one needs to. Americans have a way of disposing of stuff that's shoved at them with the admonition "Here, Read This!"

Keep On Dreaming.

Now that baseball has staged its dream game, there are some other contests which would draw lots of customers, if somebody could promote them.

Tom Girdler and John Lewis could test each other at Indian wrestling, the winner to meet William Green, winner to take all for three out of five falls.

Gov. Davey of Ohio and Gov. Earle of Pennsylvania could match vibration for vibration to settle the one-ear-to-the-ground championship of the steel states, with Davey taking a nominal handicap for being the popular favorite at the moment.

Then for the main event, Premier Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Hitler could go at it hot and heavy in front of looking glasses and microphones for the welterweight bristling championship of the world. That would be a spectacle!

If any time were left, and the crowd still cried for more, the curtain that could fall on a Shakespearian purge scene, with each country's politicians getting rid of objectionable characters in their particular government's favorite way—bullets, votes or what have you?

Mrs. Roosevelt's Tax Returns

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1937, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, July 12 — It would be most unfortunate if the headlines which in recent days have been telling of Mrs. Roosevelt's avoidance of income taxes were to be accepted by any portion of the public as a reflection upon the integrity of the first lady of the land.

Mrs. Roosevelt did what she thought was right as well as legal. She is represented as having asked the treasury department for a ruling and to have been told that what she was doing was okeh. Unfortunately, the treasury never made public any such ruling and this circumstance would imply that some special privilege was granted to the President's wife.

Based on such rulings as have been formally announced, Mrs. Roosevelt was poorly advised when she made a contract to sell her services for $1 and then assigned $3,000 of income for her weekly broadcast to other parties. The rules of the internal revenue bureau have been that income even for charity cannot be assigned.

But assuming that there is now somewhere in the internal revenue bureau a secret ruling which makes it proper for a taxpayer to do what Mrs. Roosevelt did, the question then will be asked why Representative Hamilton Fish saw fit to bring the matter to public attention. The answer is that many of the other taxpayers whose names were dragged into the limelight did what they thought was legal too and what the board of tax appeals had ruled was legal yet the administration did not hesitate to pillory those individuals.

Now there are some persons who undoubtedly evaded the law and are subject to penalty. For them there is no sympathy. There is curiosity as to why the treasury department waited so long to reveal what has happened and also why the treasury didn't proceed long ago in the proper way to prosecute these cases instead of trying them out in the headlines.

Not for Personal Gain

Many observers are saying "after all, however, Mrs. Roosevelt did what she did in order to benefit charities and not for personal gain." That is true and the President's wife deserves every commendation for going to all the troubles she does to earn money for charity. Here is a fine example of generosity and public spirit.

But, on the other hand, is Mrs. Roosevelt to be judged by one standard and the other taxpayers by another? Take the case of Alfred P. Sloan Jr. He was revealed to have been giving $250,000 a year to charity. He and his wife were reported to be paying somewhere in the neighborhood of $1,500,000 in taxes to the federal government last year. Is such a man to be credited with improper motives and to be subjected to headline attack just because the technical experts differ on whether an item of depreciation and insurance on his boat was or was not correct? By some experts it is estimated that his tax would not have been increased by about $12,000 per year and certainly not in excess of $25,000. Is a man who gives $250,000 a year to charity and $1,500,000 to the treasury in taxes to be adjudged a tax dodger because of a technical dispute over an item of depreciation, especially when his attorneys advised him that he was entitled to the deduction as a result of the treasury's own rulings?

President Roosevelt himself discussed with the newspaper correspondents three years ago this subject of depreciation and told how he had taken a deduction on a barn which was built in revolutionary war times. He spoke of it as an example of weaknesses in the law. He ought not by any means to be called a tax-dodger because of this but it certainly indicates that he himself took every legal deduction to which he was entitled.

Other taxpayers are now being branded as tax-dodgers for doing the same thing. Why? Because the administration believes in a policy of "smearing" those who disagree with its views. Of all the names furnished to the congressional hearings by the treasury department, nearly all were persons who had been opposing the administration. That's why Congressman Fish thought it was about time in the interests of fair play to show that other persons high up in the administration were using legal loopholes too.

All Lumped Together

The tax evaders, who did something illegal, were lumped together with the tax avoiders, who, of course, complied with the law. No effort was made to distinguish these two groups. Obviously all loopholes should be plugged. But it will be asked in all candor why was it necessary for the President to order his secretary of the treasury to give specific names at the tax hearings? Would not the same purpose have been served by numbering or lettering the cases and giving all the pertinent details? This would have satisfied the needs of congress from the standpoint of legislating to plug loopholes.

The fact that this fair plan was not used and that instead the administration sought to mar the reputation for integrity of some of the most respected citizens in the country is a blot that will not soon be erased. Perhaps under the code of "all is fair in politics," the course taken will be considered justified in the minds of the President and his advisers. But if such a position is adopted, the administration must be prepared for a relentless attack on its own personnel wherever they may be vulnerable.

Even the President will then not find himself immune from such criticism by opposition members of congress. For while the committee voted not to go into the personal affairs of the President at the tax inquiry out of respect for his office, it will be noted that no such consideration was given by the President to the citizens whose names were dragged into the headlines by his orders. Even in the case of those who probably committed fraud in evading taxes, the proper procedure was to try them in a court of law where they could defend themselves and not in the headlines. That's simple justice but it's the kind unhappily that politically minded people hereabouts have been inclined to believe should be made obsolete.

Moon Does Count

BRITISH astronomers have made several curious discoveries lately.

Dr. H. Spencer Jones, the Astronomer Royal, revealed in his report at Greenwich Observatory, among other things, that the moon is moving off its calculated course. The deviation continues to increase, and is now greater than at any time since 1650. On five days in the year ended April 30, Big Ben was more than a second wrong.

Dr. Jones said that the vagaries of the moon had proved that the earth was a bad timekeeper.

"The day—the time the earth takes to revolve on its own axis—is gradually lengthening," he said. "It is due to the fact that the friction of the seas on the ocean bed have a braking effect on the earth and slow it down."

The conclusion that the earth is a bad timekeeper upsets ideas about clocks. Astronomers are experimenting with crystal vibrations, trying to produce the perfect clock, independently of the earth. They are able to measure time within an error margin of less than a thousandth of a second a day. But they are not satisfied.

Other interesting points in Dr. Jones' report were:

Sunshine in the year ending April 30 last was the smallest for 40 years.

Rainfall from Jan. 1 to April 30, 12.85 inches, had never previously been approached in Greenwich Observatory records for the same period.

Big Ben does not receive automatic correction signals, but is corrected by hand.

Accurate Flying

If Amelia Earhart and her navigator missed their mark in the Pacific, why are transoceanic planes of the commercial airlines able to complete their flights safely? Devon Francis, Associated Press aviation editor, talked to pilots, navigators and airline officials about it, and then he wrote this story.

BY DEVON E. FRANCIS

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y., July 12—Unromatically, methodically, winged yachts streak along the air lanes between Europe and America, between America and Asia.

In the water wilderness of the Pacific the world's most famous aviatrix, Amelia Earhart, is lost.

The big transport airplanes fly unerringly to their goals; Miss Earhart, accomplished air woman though she is, missed her tiny target, Howland island.

The answer may be precise navigation.

Complicated Job

The same formulae developed in the 14th century by mariners who braved the ocean beyond the sight of land is used today by crews of the big flying boats to chart their courses and rob the seas of their terrors.

Today, of course, fliers have multiple navigational aids in their cabins. The ocean transports "shoot" the sun and the stars for bearings, plot their positions by radio triangulation, check their results with dead reckoning and bulwark all their findings with calculations as to "drift."

Periodically, the over-ocean transport navigator tosses overboard a "pineapple" or aluminum bomb. As it breaks on the water far below, he trains his sights on it to determine whether wind is pushing his craft off course.

The reason seemingly for the plight of Miss Earhart and Navigator Fred Noonan is a slight miscalculation as to position in relation to Howland island, coupled probably with poor visibility.

Doing Six Men's Work

Noonan had only to navigate but to act as flight engineer, mechanic, radio operator and probably steward, as well, meanwhile fighting off inevitable fatigue. Both on the Pacific transports and the trans-Atlantic survey planes those duties are broken down and assigned to half a dozen men.

All hands get ample rest. Precise navigation is the product.

In flying from Lae, New Guinea, to minute Howland island, Noonan had a multiplicity of duties. A sturdy airplane and patient motors could not erase the mistake of plotting a wrong position on the map.

Today in Ohio History

BY R. C. HALL
Written for The Associated Press

William P. Cutler was a son of Judge Ephraim Cutler and a grandson of Dr. Manasseh Cutler—all prominent in the early history of Ohio. He was born in Warren township, Washington county, Ohio, on July 12, 1812.

Ill health caused him to leave Ohio university during his junior year. He was elected three times to the legislature and served as speaker. He was a member of the Ohio constitutional convention in 1851 and became a member of congress in 1860. Cutler was a strong anti-slavery leader and a pioneer supporter of railroad development in southeastern Ohio.

Truth Lies Somewhere Between

UNIONS SAY: Why doesn't government make employers obey the laws which say they shall bargain collectively with employes, quit breaking strikes and protesting against picket lines? Is it because government always has been on the side of the employers? What this country needs today . . . ."

EMPLOYERS SAY: "Why doesn't government make unions obey the law which says they shall abide by the rules of industrial democracy, conduct peaceful picketing, respect property rights and refrain from violence? Is it because the government is afraid of organized labor and its votes? What this country needs today . . . ."

WHAT America really needs today, apparently, is an impartial government. It always has needed an impartial government, for that matter, but not always in the same direction. For the government has leaned some times in one direction, some times in the other, on the question of labor relationships.

Much has been said recently about Grover Cleveland's decision to move the mail with federal troops in 1894, for instance. As an isolated instance of federal authority being upheld, President Cleveland's act is a stirring example of courage. But it is doubtful if his position on labor would be acceptable today.

When he declared trains must move as mail might move, he chose a railroad lawyer to prosecute the strikers on behalf of the government. That would not be tolerated today. Prosecution, unless carried on by the department of justice, would be intrusted to a special prosecutor who was at least theoretically neutral.

Though President Cleveland used troops against unions, President Theodore Roosevelt used them against employers. In the anthracite strike of 1903, he prepared to have mines operated by United States soldiers when operators refused to abide by terms of arbitration proposed by the miners. When operators heard of this plan, they grudgingly consented to arbitration, a victory for the miners.

PRESIDENT WILSON favored unions early in his administration. In the Colorado coal strike of 1913, Mr. Wilson proposed arbitration. Operators rejected the offer and a congressional investigation was held. The findings, made public six months after the strike, largely upheld the miners' contention that the companies were suppressing them in the exercise of their civil liberties.

When a riot occurred, with many fatalities, President Wilson sent federal troops to get control of the situation. His attempts to force operators into arbitration were unsuccessful, and the strike finally collapsed. The miners had won a moral victory, however, by turning popular opinion against the operators.

But if President Wilson was impatient with stubborn employers, he was equally impatient with the unions which broke contracts. The war complicated the problem of work stoppage. When machinists in a Connecticut shipyard threatened to strike, they were warned that unless they abided by arbitration, the President would end their exemption from the draft and prevent them from being employed in any other war industry.

In 1919, the United Mine Workers refused a presidential request for cessation of a coal strike. Thereupon, Mr. Wilson obtained an injunction against the strike. In 1920 the Wilson administration arrested leaders of striking switchmen who were engaged in an outlaw strike.

THE case of President Wilson illustrates the difficulty of being impartial. When he left office labor charged he had been proemployer because he had not been uniformly prounion, while employers charged that he had been prounion because he had not been 100 per cent proemployer.

Nobody is ever a neutral, but when partisans take the field there is only one way to find where the truth lies between them—by looking at both sides with the same critical eye.

Notes from Some Old Friends

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 12—Diary: Early up and notes from Elsie Janis, on a tour of Veterans' hospitals in California and from Peg Howard and daughter Jane in far off Australia. Also a note from Les Copeland who used to improvise so wistfully on the piano for those of us who turned Paris nights into days years ago.

Then typing but with languor. So planning with my wife for a high walled-in French garden at our Gallipolis home and for the most luxurious hammock we can find anywhere to swing from the 125-year-old water maple. And off to sit with Bob Hague the oil tanker man awhile.

Dined at old Guffanti's, about the same as it was 25 years ago and walked through Hell's Kitchen and Paddy's Market. Then put it at Jack Dempsey's but the champion was off at a broadcast. So home and Alma Claybergh and daughter dropped by on their way to embark for Europe.

Frank Markey, veteran newspaperman, contributed for years to the support of his aged grandmother. Recently the good lady was killed near Baltimore. She was 86 and Markey was called in to settle her meagre estate. In an old trunk he salvaged two ancient stamp albums and brought them to his New York apartment.

Shortly afterward Markey was stricken with arthritis and was advised by his doctor to take a trip. Ready cash was lacking for the long stay in the tropics. During his quandary Emil Gavereau, a newspaper editor, came to call and while there chanced to see the stamp albums. He is an expert collector and declared one stamp alone in the outlay was worth $10,000.

Markey excitedly called in a professional philatelist and learned his grandfather, from whom the grandmother inherited the stamps had started the collection back in 1840. He had gone to Europe on a visit and picked up a number of European issues. The collection is complete of stamps used from the first days up to the Spanish American war.

Some stamps were in duplicate and Markey sold one for $3,100 and took his trip. The collection now reposes in a safety vault and the owner is besieged by agents who have offered more than $100,000 for the lot. He prefers to sell one at a time when needed. The pay off: There is no income or inheritance tax on stamp collections. The moral: Always be good to your grandmother.

An undercover crowd of Americans are organizing to attempt to induce Col. Lindbergh to return. The one thing they have to avoid at the outset is publicity. And they realize that the flyer's grievances are many and well sustained. He could not be expected to display much eagerness for a land where a beloved child could be so cruelly kidnaped and murdered and frantic parents so pitilessly hoaxed in honest efforts to recover a son. Yet it is said all this would not have driven Lindbergh away. It was more the curiosity of people who made it impossible for him to move off of his estate without being mobbed. He has found he can motor to London and stroll through its most crowded streets and not even be slightly annoyed by gawkers.

Magazine editors find Ernest Hemingway the most difficult of writers to keep harnessed. He will go along for a short trot and then slip halter and be off to some lost corner of the world. Recently a magazine confessed it thought it had pinned Hemingway down for regular monthly contributions but it was only for a few months and he flew the coop. Any magazine in the land has its sanctum doors open and pages waiting for anything he cares to write on any subject — the Big Desire of almost everybody who lives by the pen. But Hemingway prefers to roam and write as he pleases. Sensible fellow.

History Making at Capital

That's Way Washington Views Court Debate.

BY PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON, July 12—Every once in a while a city feels it is living a historic moment. Washington had such a feeling as the senate took up the debate on the supreme court bill.

Debate in the senate often is unimpressive and a spirit of cantankerousness prevails under many circumstances which brings the whole affair down to about the level of an election campaign meeting.

But when the lads withdrew from their Fourth of July celebrating and went to work on the revised court bill, they were tampering with the fundamentals of government—and they knew it.

Accusations

There are two sides to this court packing business and no matter which side you are on the logic of the opposition hits hard and demands something besides sarcasm or flim-flam in reply.

Both sides had the good judgment early in the debate to skim off at least part of the slag that has hidden the real metal of the issue. President Roosevelt wants men on the court with a viewpoint different from that which prevailed until a very few months ago.

That much the President or his spokesman have said, repeatedly.

It is the administration contention that the justices, in interpreting acts of congress, have been injecting their own views on what is good policy for the government in spite of constitutional delegation of that authority to congress alone.

The opposition contention is that for congress to permit placing of new members on the court for the obvious purpose of bringing a line of decisions desired by the administration in power would be to invite repeated excursions of such nature. Thus a precedent would be set for congress and the prevailing administration to drown independent court views in a flood of new appointments.

Import

The substitute bill is different from the original principally in that it delays the speed by which new minds could be put on the court.

Just how important the struggle is historically cannot be measured immediately. If opponents of the legislation are right in saying that loss of court prestige is a long step toward the sort of thing prevailing in Italy and Germany, then it is staggeringly important. If the advocates are right in saying the legislation will simply set the court out of a bias against giving the American underdog his share, then again it is important, but perhaps less dramatic.

Either turn is of exciting import, and the senate was sufficiently aware of it to almost forget attending the important all-star baseball game a few blocks distant—and that's somepin'.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Tuesday, July 12, 1927.

County Auditor Earl E. Thomas filed an annual report listing $3,522 paid during the preceding year on claims for sheep killed or maimed by dogs. This was an increase of $154 over the year before.

Mrs. Harriet J. Burch, 73, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Bricker, on Senate street.

Robert G. McMurray and Robert F. Hecker of Marion and Russell W. Gardner of Marengo were among 205 Ohio men and women announced as having made passing grades in the Ohio State medical examination.

Mr. and Mrs. William Belser of Pennsylvania avenue entertained a company of friends in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sonday of Bucyrus, recently married. Mrs. Sonday was formerly Miss Kathryn Belser.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Thursday, July 12, 1917.

Announcement was made that the Russian troops had captured Kalusz in Galicia, headquarters of the Austro-Hungarian military forces. The Austro-Hungarians and Germans were reported in flight with Russian cavalry pursuing at top speed. On the Verdun front the German troops attacked French positions on both sides of the Meuse river but were repulsed.

Arrangements were made for mobilization of D Co. here at 8 a. m. Sunday, official orders having been received by Capt. George T. Geran.

Announcement of war census figures revealed that there had been a decided change in the population rank of many cities. Cleveland was placed as the fifth city in the country and Detroit fourth. Marion's population was figured at 29,603.

The feature picture at the Marion theater was "The Broadway Sport" starring Stuart Holmes and at the Columbia "Freckles" was being shown with Jack Pickford and Louise Huff in the leading roles.

The children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Mrs. Charles Koenig gave a surprise party for her at her home on West Columbia street in celebration of her sixty-ninth birthday anniversary.

Edward Huber had as dinner guests at the Marion club Miss Mildred Jones and her guests Misses Mildred Greason, Cora Fair and Gladys Neidner of Brooklyn, N. Y., Huron Hamilton, Charles S. Nelson and Charles Hamilton.

Wayside Lodge, I. O. O. F. installed officers headed by Harry Everly as noble grand.

CIO then put on its first witness, Mrs. Anna J. Thomas, a brunette of about 35, who testified she was among those injured in a riot at a Republic steel plant in Massillon late last night.

Weeping repeatedly and speaking in choked whispers, she related that she was working in the strikers' kitchen headquarters when a man entered and told her and other women to "get away to a safer spot." At that moment, she testified, a "deputy" came in and shot the man. She did not mention national guardsmen but the state raised no objection to her testimony.

CIO attorneys said they planned to have Gov. Martin L. Davey and Maj. Gen. Gilson D. Light called as witnesses.

NATION'S HEAT WAVE DEATH TOLL CLIMBS

Wyoming, and several New England states.

In Chicago, 10 Lake Michigan bathers were burned and shocked when lightning struck a tree under which they had sought shelter during a thunderstorm.

At Durand, Mich., a windstorm last night unroofed several buildings, uprooted trees and damaged crops. Detroit's temperature dropped 15 degrees in five hours after a night shower. It reported a maximum of 91.

Many cities along the Atlantic seaboard sweltered in 90 to 100 degree temperatures.

Wilted weather fans flocked to beaches, parks and country retreats over the week-end. Coast guards estimated at least 500,000 played along Chicago's lakefront beaches.

The death toll was mounting steadily. New York led 21 other states with a fatality list of 62. New Jersey followed with 41 and Connecticut had 38.

An Associated Press survey showed the following deaths by other states attributed to the heat:

Pennsylvania, 37; Michigan, 27; Illinois, 16, Massachusetts, 15; Ohio, 11; Wisconsin, 11; Indiana and Rhode Island, 10 each, Maine, Minnesota and Kansas, five each; Kentucky, Tennessee, Maryland, District of Columbia and West Virginia, four each; Virginia, Iowa, and Nebraska, three each; Georgia, Missouri and South Carolina, one each.

ELECTRICAL STORM HITS GALION

GALION, July 12—Galion simmered Sunday under a terrific sun, probably the most uncomfortably hot day of the season. Showers during the middle of the day brought only brief relief.

According to James Gill in charge of the municipal swimming pool at Heise park there was a record attendance, with the total reaching approximately 600. During the past week daily attendance at the pool reached between four and five hundred.

One of the most severe electrical storms of the year struck Galion early Sunday morning shortly after midnight. Lightning caused lights to go out a number of places in the city. When lightning caused lights to go out a number of places in the city. When lightning struck the wiring at the city building, it caused the fire bell to ring. A number of trees were struck by lightning. Thunderbolts and lightning flashes kept people awake for nearly two hours.

KENTON REPORTS HEAT PROSTRATION

KENTON, O., July 12—A transient was prostrated by the heat here Saturday as the mercury soared to a season's high of 93. Wind, rain and hail thereafter failed to materially lower the oppressive temperatures.

Kenton residents opened the water valves to use slight more than 800,000 gallons of water per day in an attempt to keep cool. Normally the pumping station throws 225,000 gallons into the mains during winter and about 350,000 gallons per day during summer time.

Farmers reported that the searing heat worked hardship on man and beast in harvest fields.

Corn is booming but other crops, including potatoes and onions, are in need of rain. Additional reports of the wheat crop indicate a very light crop, of poorer than average quality as result of excessive rains and extreme heat.

OHIO DEATH TOLL MOUNTS TO 14

By The Associated Press

While thousands sought relief from above 90 temperatures in most parts of the state, the weatherman promised showers today to slacken the intensity of a heat wave which has cost the lives of at least 14 Ohioans. Five of the deaths occurred Sunday, two of them from drowning. Seven others died from traffic mishaps.

Cleveland police held James Svingos, 65, for selling without a license, but he died of a heart attack induced by heat.

Akron listed its first heat victim when John W. Richman, 65, was prostrated while fishing. Another Akronite, Edgar O. Denny, 29, was struck by lightning while taking his boat to shore on Springfield lake.

Apparently stricken by cramps while swimming in Miami river north of Dayton, Cecil Soloman, 18, drowned.

At Rushtown, William Horton, 21, of Portsmouth, drowned in the Scioto river.

Automobile accidents claimed at least seven lives on Ohio's highways.

At Medina, M. L. Hormell, 45, of Urbana, chairman of the Champaign County Republican executive committee was injured fatally in a three-car collision in which his wife, Mrs. Gladys Hormell, 47, and Reede Shook, 36, truck driver, also died.

J. W. SPAWN AGAIN LAID UP IN BED

tion for appendicitis. That was 90 days more.

When he returned to work, he was subjected to a physical examination and ordered back to the hospital for another operation for an abscess near the old incision. Sixty more days of hospital life went into Spawn's record.

After 21 days of railroad work, following his discharge from the hospital, he was caught in a railroad accident in which he suffered a fractured skull and a double fracture of the spine.

Disabled Four Years

This accident disabled him for four years and his injuries required 13 months of constant attention in leading hospitals of the county. For nearly a year he was in the Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore, strapped to a huge plank, which was separated from his body by a single sheet. A 13-pound weight attached to his bed through a pulled device was a constant pull on his head while another five-pound weight tugged on his feet.

After extensive treatment there, he was placed in an aluminum corset and taken to another hospital where 26 X-ray photographs in one day, taken for an insurance company, resulted in the company's settlement with him for disability for the remainder of his life, and physicians predicted he would never walk without an expensive spine operation, in which his chance to live would be one in a thousand. Nevertheless, he was up and able to discard the metal corset three years later.

In 1924, after horse racing had taken his fancy, he drove in a race at Bowling Green. Several ribs were broken in a spill on the track. "I should have known better than to give Fate such an opening as that to give me a spill," he said. Later, while in Winchester with his horses, he was caught under a fallen animal so that his chest and stomach were so crushed and distorted that for 12 hours doctors said his case was beyond aid. Again he overcame long odds and, with the aid of an intestinal operation and a year of rest, was well enough to resume work.

In 1927 he underwent an operation for gall stones, disabling him for two months.

Three weeks after he left the hospital he was struck by an automobile while trying to repair the car on a highway near his home. His left hip and right shoulder were broken and he spent more than three months in the hospital as a result.

A few weeks later he returned to the hospital to have the shoulder rebroken and reset in order to get control of his right arm. This, however, took only 10 days in the hospital.

While at Hartford in 1928, another horse fell on him, injuring his ribs and back and he was disabled for two months.

In 1929 he was overcome by heat while working in a haymow 30 feet from the ground and had to be lowered by ropes.

Another Horse Accident

In September of 1929 a horse kicked him and nearly trampled him to death in his barn. This accident occurred on Saturday, Sept. 14, 1929, just after Spawn had congratulated himself on passing successfully a Friday, the thirteenth.

Since then he has fallen twice from the haymow at his barn, each fall sending him to the hospital for three-month periods.

On Jan. 2, 1935, while delivering some dressed poultry at the City hospital here, he slipped on ice and caught his back on one of the protruding pieces of his automobile bumper. He was confined two months for treatment and still carries a large scar caused by the fall.

Last year he suffered stomach hemorrhages and went to the hospital for four more weeks.

"That was on July 1, 1936, and since that time I had what you might call a breathing spell from doctor bills and disability," Spawn said. "I've managed to get the house fixed up, wired for electricity, and more or less get on my feet again, but I guess the jinx is after me again."

Spawn is at a loss to account for his unusual series of mishaps. Instead of blaming his "bad luck" for long periods in the hospital, he prefers to remark that "only the hand of Providence" saved him on several occasions, including the last accident. He said his bones are not unusually soft or brittle, and says he knows of no reason why he should have more accidents than any one else.

Spawn is a heavy man, but is muscular and well built. He and Mrs. Spawn raise poultry and dress as high as 300 chickens a week for marketing, principally in Marion.

DRIVERS ACCUSED OF OVERLOADING

Charles B. Gibson, 35, of Columbus was fined $25 and costs when he pleaded guilty before Mayor Oscar Veith at Upper Sandusky Saturday night to a charge of overloading a commercial vehicle, highway patrolmen from the Marion sub-station reported. Gibson was cited on state route 23, at Little Sandusky, Saturday afternoon.

Glen Durkee, 27, of Columbus, cited on route 23, near Upper Sandusky, on a charge of overloading a commercial vehicle, this morning at 3 o'clock, was fined $25 and costs at an arraignment before Mayor Veith today. He was cited by highway patrolmen. Both men were driving trucks loaded with steel.

Courthouse Clock Takes Night Off; Going Again Today

Father Time took a holiday last night, at least so far as the courthouse clock was concerned.

The 50-year-old timepiece joined the "sitdown" movement last night at 7:45 and was started up again about 6 o'clock this morning by John Haines, courthouse custodian.

Haines said no cause could be found, except for a possibility that the weight of pigeons and starlings might have stopped one of the hands as it was moving upward. If one of the hands were stopped, all four of the clock's faces would be affected, he said.

He said the clock stopped once before, about two years ago last spring, when a hand became warped and lodged against a wooden block on the clock face. The blocks are used to denote the minutes of the hour. The clock was installed about 1885 and has not been thoroughly overhauled since, Haines said.

hastened to the scene in response to a call for aid, armed with a machine gun, service revolvers and riot guns, tear gas guns and gas bombs.

As gas shells shattered windows and enveloped the building in a dense cloud of gas, men dashed from the structure with handkerchiefs and sleeves to their eyes.

Many Escape in Dark

Police pursued and arrested many. Others escaped by dashing into dark alleys and streets.

The wounded were Jim Decan, 47, Bill Neiras, Ted George, 28, Mike Sandones, George Konyn, 21, and Oscar Roda. Most of them were struck by shotgun pellets. George was released after treatment for multiple shotgun pellet wounds.

Massillon police requested reinforcements from the national guard contingents on strike duty at Canton and from the Canton police department. Company I, of the 106th Infantry, and nearly 80 Canton—officers—all deputized last week for strike emergency—responded.

Ruttenberg and Joseph Morton, president of "New Deal" lodge, addressed an open air strike rally yesterday. Morton urged a full force of pickets to report for duty on the 11 p. m. shift. Pickets have been limited to six at each post and 10 at the main entrance to the mill property by a court injunction.

Indiana Situation

Meanwhile at Indianapolis, a promise of peace by Gov. M. Clifford Townsend for one of the last major fronts of the steel strike—the Calumet district of northern Indiana—was clouded in a series of conflicting statements and denials.

The governor, already successful as a peacemaker in the strike at the Inland Steel company's big East Chicago, Ind., plant announced yesterday he had effected settlement of the strike at the nearby Indiana Harbor mills of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company.

Immediately, J. C. Argetsinger, the company's vice president, replied in a statement issued at Cleveland:

"This company has not made any agreement, contract or method of settlement with any officer or official of the state of Indiana or any of its sub-divisions."

This much appeared certain, however: that the Youngstown mills, where 7,700 workers have been idle since May 26, would reopen in a day or two.

ROOSEVELT VETOES FARM INTEREST BILL

told the house, "that there is no justification for continued government subsidy of federal land bank interest rates below the unprecedentedly low rate these banks are now offering farmer-borrowers on a business basis.

"Furthermore the ability of farmers to pay interest at the rates provided for in their mortgages with the federal land banks has been very substantially improved, due to an increase of more than 100 per cent in the level of farm prices since the emergency period of 1932-33."

Referring to his efforts to balance the budget President Roosevelt said the bill "was not contemplated in the preparation of the budget for the fiscal year 1938" and that its approval by him "involving as it does an additional draft upon the treasury in excess of $30,000,000 during the fiscal year 1938, would be totally inconsistent with my purpose to bring about a balancing of the budget for that year."

CAREY MAN FINED

Homer Robinson, 45, of Carey was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving when arraigned before Mayor Veith at Upper Sandusky Saturday afternoon. Robinson had been cited for the alleged violation on state route 23, north of Little Sandusky, Friday night about 5:30 o'clock, by highway patrolmen from the Marion sub-station.

TAKEN TO RICHWOOD

Joseph White, 26, of Kenton was arrested by police here Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock, at a South Main street residence, on a warrant filed at Richwood. He was turned over to Constable Imbody and returned to Richwood. The charge was filed by L. L. Aller, and although police here did not learn the details of the warrant, it was in connection with the theft of harness, Police Chief Marks said.

FOUR HURT AS CAR PLUNGES INTO DITCH

Fifth Escapes Injury in Accident West of Big Island on Route 30.

Four young men, all of Marion, were severely cut and bruised early Sunday morning when the roadster in which they were riding plunged into the ditch just west of Big Island on Harding highway. A fifth occupant of the car was uninjured.

Three of the men, Russell F. McIntire, 22, of 349½ North State street, Donald Winters, 24, of 609 East Farming street and Ray Wedertz, 25, of 636 Fish avenue, were thrown from the car. Others in the car were Delvey Kegg, 22, of 277 East Mark street and August Rex, 28, of 524 Davids street. Rex was uninjured.

Winters, believed to be the most seriously injured, had a long cut on the side of his head, which required 14 stitches to close. He also was cut about the hand. Wedertz suffered head injuries and a severe head cut and McIntire was cut about the left arm and head. Kegg was lacerated about the head.

They were taken to City hospital about 1 a. m. in the C. E. Curtis Co. ambulance and were released after treatment.

Kegg said he and Winters were riding in the rumble seat and had joined the other three only a short time before the accident, which occurred as they were driving toward Marion.

SLAYER OF SCHOOL GIRL DIES IN CHAIR

By The Associated Press

BELLEFONTE, Pa., July 12 — Alexander Meyer, 20, son of a well-to-do retired coal operator, died in the electric chair at Rockview penitentiary this morning for the sex slaying of 16-year-old Helen Moyer, a high school girl.

White-faced, but outwardly calm, Meyer was led from his death cell and placed in the chair at 12:31 a. m. (Marion time). He was pronounced dead four minutes later.

The young slayer died as he recited the 23d psalm, repeating it after the Rev. C. F. Lauer, the prison chaplain. They had reached "amen" when the switch was pulled that sent 20,000 volts through his body.

After the execution his body was turned over to Dr. L. U. Zeck, York county coroner, who performed a post mortem.

MORROW COUNTY RESIDENT DIES

Special to The Star

CARDINGTON, July 12 — Miss Ella Kehrwecker, 76, lifelong resident of Morrow county, died at 12:30 a. m. today at her home here. Complications following a fall nine weeks ago caused her death.

She was born July 3, 1861, in Westfield township to John G. and Anna Mary Hack Kehrwecker, natives of Germany. Until 17 years ago when Miss Kehrwecker and her sister Miss Anna Kehrwecker moved to Cardington, they made their home on a farm west of here.

Surviving are her sister with whom she lived, and a brother, George Kehrwecker of Cardington.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at St. Paul's Lutheran church and burial will be in Glendale cemetery here.

Both Houses Return to Columbus To Seek Compromise on Measure.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 12. Both houses of the Ohio legislature returned to Columbus today to take up the long-awaited compromise biennial budget bill.

Schedule to get under way at 7:30 p. m., the session was called yesterday following recommendation of a joint house and senate conference committee for a $91,361,874 appropriation to finance state operations for 1937 and 1938.

Conferees signed the report recommending adoption of the bill after more than two weeks of deliberations deadlocked by the determined stand of senate "no new taxes" bloc members for sweeping reductions.

Although legislative leaders predicted passage of the bill by both houses tonight they expressed doubt that funds would be available for the semi-monthly payroll Wednesday. The state has been without operating funds since July 1, expiration date of the previous appropriations.

Senate conferees said the compromise bill reduced by approximately $5,500,000 appropriations contained in an administration-sponsored measure approved by the house.

Efforts of the senate trio to obtain an additional reduction of five per cent on all appropriations from the general fund failed through refusal of two of the house conferees to support it. Total appropriations from the general fund are $47,259,686.

STUDY FOUR COURT BILL SUBSTITUTES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 12. The senate judiciary committee, which scathingly denounced the Roosevelt court bill, considered four constitutional amendments today as possible substitutes for the President's program.

Some members suggested one of the proposals might be a basis for a compromise if the pending bill should be blocked.

The committee was called together in mid-morning, shortly before the senate began the second week of its historic debate on supreme court revision.

The proposed constitutional amendments would:

1. Require supreme court justices to retire at 75. The constitution now gives them life tenture.
2. Permit congress to override by a two-thirds vote supreme court decisions invalidating its acts.
3. Limit terms of judges to a definite number of years.
4. Increase the supreme court to 11 justices. One would be chosen from each of the 10 judicial districts, and the chief justice would be selected from the country at large.

Senator Andrews, Democrat of Florida, still noncommittal on the administration bill, was invited to explain the fourth proposal to the committee.

RIVALS FOR "WORLD" GOLF TITLE TIED

By The Associated Press

WALTON HEATH, Eng., July 12. A 15 foot putt for a birdie on the 18th hole gave Henry Cotton, British open golf champion, a tie with Denny Shute, United States, at the quarter mark of their 72 hole match for the world's golf championship today.

Despite a steady drizzle of rain, a crowd of 1,500 watched the match, which was a dog fight all the way with Cotton scoring a medal of 71 to Shute's 72 on the par 73 layout. Shute, however, held the upper hand most of the way.

DRIVER CITED

Howard Trautman, 26, of near Sycamore was cited this morning at 12:30 o'clock on route 30-N east of Upper Sandusky, for misuse of dealers' license plates by highway patrolmen from the Marion sub-station. He was ordered to appear before Mayor Veith at Upper Sandusky tonight.

Soldiers Moved To Trouble Zone by Japan, China

By The Associated Press

In spite of reports of a new armistice in the five-day conflict west of Peiping both Japan and China moved fresh soldiers today toward the North China trouble zone. Officials said relations of the two powers were at the breaking point.

At Tokyo, Japanese reinforcements, described by Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye as "adequate armed forces, moved toward North China from Japan proper, Korea and Manchuria. The new commander of the Japanese expeditionary forces, Lieut.-Gen. Kiyoshi Katsuki, conferred at Hsinking with General Kenkichi Uyeda, commander of the powerful Japanese army in Manchuria.

The Japanese war office asserted that the vanguard of a Chinese army, said to total 30,000, had reached the battle area west of Peiping along the Yungting river and opened fire on the Japanese. This, the war office said brought China-Japan relations to the breaking point. Widespread Chinese troop movements toward the north were reported both along the Peiping-Hankow and Peiping-Shanghai railways.

TWO MEN HELD ON THEFT CHARGES

Russell McCann, 35, of Waldo and Pearl Garn, 52, of 142 Park boulevard were arrested this morning by police on charges of petit larceny filed in municipal court by Harvey Sinning of Marion. The pair, Sinning alleges took a step-ladder, an extension ladder, 10 used paint brushes and two pieces of canvas, belonging to him last Friday. Both men were released to appear in municipal court later.

Social Affairs

SOCIAL affairs at the Marion Country club include a Sunday party for July 18. Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. [illegible] are chairmen of the host and hostess committee in charge of plans for the party and they are being assisted by the following members: Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Brown, vice chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. George Turner, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bintz, Mr. and Mrs. John People, and Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Hobble-

Members of the Carpe Diem club and their families held a picnic yesterday at the state lake park at Mt. Gilead yesterday. Arrangements were in charge of the refreshment committee of the club, composed of Mrs. Robert Hinamon, Mrs. John Barkley, Miss Louise Hinamon and Mrs. Charles Brady. The outing was planned at a meeting of the club last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Charles Hinamon of the Marion-Bucyrus pike. The program hour included a [illegible] paper by Mrs. Paul Lill. The members responded to roll call by telling how they spent the patriotic holiday preceding Monday. Mrs. Perry Shoots of the Upper Sandusky road will entertain the members Aug. 5.

Miss Kathryn Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Welch of 122 Selby court and Lowell Buck, son of Mrs. Grace Nere of 201 Neil avenue, were united in marriage yesterday noon at the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church manse on Johnson street. Rev. J. A. Carrikey read the single ring service. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jackson of Prospect were the attendants. Present for the wedding were the bride's parents, the bridegroom's mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McKee of Columbus and Charles Selby of Los Angeles.

The bride wore a [illegible] blue sheer frock with accessories of matching shade, and wore a shoulder corsage of roses and asters. [illegible] The matron of honor was in white.

For the present Mr. and Mrs. Buck will live at 201 Neil avenue. Mrs. Buck was graduated from Harding High school in 1932. Mr. Buck is employed at [illegible] & Son.

A family picnic planned by the Claridon Progressive Farm Women's club for Wednesday evening has been postponed until Sunday night. It will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Smith on the Patten pike.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Titus were guests at a meeting of the H and H club Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Titus of Girard avenue. It was decided to discontinue meetings through July and August and to meet Sept. 4 with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Augenstein of Smith street. Euchre was played, honors going to Mrs. Norman Titus and Mr. Augenstein. Mrs. Augenstein and Norman Titus were consoled. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Weddings

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Edwards of Marion and Kenneth Spriggs of Mt. Gilead was solemnized Saturday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock by Rev. J. W. Schillinger, pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran church, at his home on South Prospect street. The single ring service was used. Accompanying the couple was Miss Luella Balsley. The bride wore a green dress and her accessories were in white.

Mrs. Spriggs, who is the daughter of Mrs. Millie Edwards of 856 Wilson avenue, was graduated from Harding High school in 1935 and has been employed with the Holland Furnace Co. Mr. Spriggs was graduated from the Mt. Gilead High school in 1935, and is a machinist. The couple will live in Mt. Gilead.

Through air mail and passenger service has been established between Tientsin, China, and Tokyo, Japan.

Wins Law Honor At Convention

Miss Mary Kathryn Ryan of Cleveland, above, daughter of Mrs. John J. Ryan of 314 Silver street of Marion, was elected associate dean of Kappa Beta Pi International legal sorority at its annual convention held recently at the Seigniory club in Quebec. Miss Ryan is a practicing attorney in Cleveland and is a member of the faculty of the John Marshall Law school where she is an instructor of adult education in the night classes. She was graduated from St. Mary Parochial High school.

BOMB ATTACK MADE ON MORROW SHERIFF

ward the door nearest the parked car but was stopped when his feet were cut by glass blown from windows in his residence. He returned for slippers, called Deputy M. C. Griffin and joined a crowd that gathered quickly, many persons running out in night clothing to learn what had happened.

Dense, black smoke hovered over the wreckage of the automobile. Several of the spectators said the smoke smelled like black powder, while others theorized that the bomb had contained nitro-glycerin.

One Eyewitness

The only eyewitness of the explosion was Riley Thompson, a barber, living about 200 feet north of the place where the car was parked. He happened to see the explosion through a window.

Four prisoners in the county jail had not retired when the blast came. They reported they noticed an odor similar to burning rubber and had started to investigate for a possible fire from wiring in their quarters of the jail when the blast came. They believe the odor came from the burning of a fuse on the bomb.

Sheriff George said a short time prior to the bombing a man drove up to the jail and then sped away after making a brief stop.

The sheriff said the explosion lifted the car from the ground. It blew a hole in the brick pavement, hurtled the right front fender 75 feet into the yard of Miss Ethel Elder, former Morrow county probate judge, where a window also was blown out, and generally wrecked the car. It blew the hood from the vehicle, parts of metal from the bomb punctured three tires; the frame was sprung and the body so badly twisted that none of the doors could be fully opened. The floorboard was caved upward and seat cushions twisted and torn.

Twelve windows in the sheriff's residence and the jail quarters were broken and seven others shattered in a house directly across the street, owned by Mrs. James Swingle, now in Canada.

At the time of the blast, Sheriff and Mrs. George and their four children, Mary Jane 3, Luella Mae 6, Earl, 10, and Franklin, 12, were sleeping in the residence quarters of the jail building and only the four prisoners who noticed the odor of burning rubber were in the jail. No one was injured.

Howard Robinson, chief of the bureau of criminal identification at the London, O., prison farm was expected to arrive in Mt. Gilead today to help Sheriff George with the investigation. He recently had been there assisting in the investigation of the Hack murder case.

Blaine Ave. Home Scene of Wedding Ceremony Sunday

MISS ARELENE PADDOCK became the bride of Franklin E. Pump Jr. in a ceremony read yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Merchant of 239 Blaine avenue. Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, read the single ring service before an improvised altar formed of flowers and greenery. Mrs. Merchant was her sister's attendant and Myron Althouse was Mr. Pump's best man.

The bride chose a gown of white brocaded lace over white satin and in her hair she wore a rhinestone star clip. Her matron of honor was costumed in robin's egg blue and both wore shoulder bouquets of pink tea roses, gypsophila and ferns.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Clara Paddock, wore blue embroidered net over matching satin and Mrs. Franklin E. Pump Sr., mother of the bridegroom, was in beige lace. Following the ceremony there was a small reception for close friends and later Mr. and Mrs. Pump left on a wedding trip to Lake Erie. Upon their return they will be at home with the bride's mother at 136 Union street.

Guests from out of the city included the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Pump and family of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Pump, Mrs. Lucille Waggoner and family and George Waggoner of Fremont.

REV. LEHMAN TALKS AT UNION SERVICES

Takes "Christian Pattern" as Topic: E. N. Hale Addresses Young People.

"Patterns are those things designated as a guide and worthy of imitation," Rev. E. H. Lehman, pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran church, said in his sermon for the union church services last night at the Prospect Street M. E. church. His subject was "Christian Patterns" and he based his sermon theme on the following text: "Let this mind be in you which was in Christ Jesus."

Rev. Henry Mang, pastor of the host church, presided, and the opening prayer was spoken by Dr. Harry L. Bell, pastor of the Central Christian church. Rev. Carl V. Roop, pastor of the First United Brethren church, read the scripture, and the benediction was spoken by Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, past. of Trinity Baptist church.

At the young people's service the address was given by Earl N. Hale, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who spoke on "Character Tests." This service was in charge of Gerald Seckel of the St. Paul's English Lutheran church. Both services were well attended.

Rev. Lehman traced the use of patterns through the making of garments, the pottery industry and granite industry. He told how trained animals are used as a pattern to train the young animals and showed how everything on earth is related to a pattern.

"Man is constantly on exhibition and whether a father, mother, teacher or pastor, somebody may be patterning him," he said. His theme led to the pattern followed by Christians, "Christ Himself," and exhorted his hearers to hold Him before them. He closed with the presentation of the pattern of the resurrected body, "when we shall have put on immortality and live forever with all the saints in glory."

CHURCH HYMNALS ARE DEDICATED

Special Service Held at Forest Lawn Church

New hymnals recently presented to the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church were dedicated with special services yesterday morning. A large attendance was reported by Rev. J. A. Carrikey. The hymnals, known as the "Service Hymnal," were given by a friend and represent one of the most comprehensive collections available.

The program opened at 11 a. m. with the organ prelude by Mrs. Harriet Davis. The dedicatory services proper included the singing of single verses of [illegible] hymns. Following responsive dedicatory statements, the Apostles' Creed, doxology, invocation and further responsive readings came in the order named. The congregation then sang "I Would Be True."

The singing of several hymns especially arranged by Rev. Carrikey and Mrs. C. L. McElfish in charge of the choir to illustrate the story of God's love and salvation through Christ followed.

Special songs during the services were as follows: duet by Mrs. Robert Martin and Mrs. Lee Thompson; quartet including Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. L. J. Black, DeVere Walker and Rev. Carrikey; solo by Mrs. Black.

MRS. KATHARINE BALDRIDGE

s. Harris Has Words of Praise for Tomato

[illegible] When [illegible] should [illegible] answer [illegible] considers [illegible] value [illegible] and how [illegible] the tomato [illegible] has come to [illegible] de[illegible] and tomatoes [illegible] fact that they [illegible] seven of [illegible] are [illegible] in the [illegible] for which [illegible] salad [illegible] achievement [illegible] an excellent [illegible] is distinctive [illegible] also com[illegible] of many other [illegible] meals. To [illegible] equal [illegible] desirable [illegible] color also has

Tea rooms and cafeterias often make cup [illegible] as well as the home [illegible] for salads in which the tomato is a prominent [illegible] and contributes to the color harmony of a meal.

Fits Into Any Meal

By reason of its form, size and texture the fresh tomato lends itself to a great variety of interesting arrangements, either in individual servings or in a large dish to be served at the table. The tomato in one form or another is a suitable food for any of the three meals a day, which can be said of few foods. To the [illegible] satisfaction of the housewife many tomato dishes may be prepared with a minimum of labor.

Consider the breakfast table. As a cool refreshing juice, seasoned [illegible] the day. [illegible] cocktails may be made by the use of various [illegible] and the addition of [illegible] Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice or sauerkraut juice. Such a cocktail is more appropriate as a luncheon or dinner entree.

In salad form the variety of combinations is limited only by the ingenuity of the cook. The tomato bobs up as a mere side order, sliced and garnished with green greens, or as a main dish. Dressings may be anything from salt to Russian, French or mayonnaise. Tomato aspic is popular summer and winter.

Tasty Combinations

Other foods with which tomato combines nicely in salad are cucumber, onion, endive, watercress, cabbage, diced or grated carrots, cottage cheese, grated yellow cheese, green pepper, cooked green peas, green or wax beans, lima beans, hard cooked eggs and nuts.

Think through all the other possibilities of this popular and adaptable food—the food that once was placed on the mantel shelf merely for decorative purposes. Incredible as it may seem, my own father can remember those days when the shiny red tomato was known as the love apple and enjoyed the dignity of the parlor rather than the practical setting of the dining room.

According to first historical mention the tomato actually originated in Peru. The belief that the tomato was injurious was dissipated in America many years ago when an Italian painter immigrated to our shores and startled his neighbors by serving tomato dishes.

Variety of Users

Tomatoes appear scalloped, stewed or in tomato rarebit. They are cored and baked plain with buttered crumbs or may be stuffed with an unlimited variety of seasoned egg, vegetable or meat combination. Cream of tomato soup and many variations of vegetable soup are palatable and nourishing.

Canned tomato soup makes a convenient tasty sauce for numerous meat dishes and the soup also appears in a luscious molded gelatine salad. Think too of spaghetti with tomato sauce.

Fried green tomatoes are a country standby when the vines are heavily loaded. Try frying some to serve with meat when your vegetable bin shows some tomatoes that have only partly turned red. Each slice should be dipped in flour or cornmeal seasoned with salt and pepper and fried in hot fat.

Of course a case history of tomatoes should not overlook all the tomato relishes, chili sauce and catsup and sliced green tomato pickle is a real delicacy. Green tomatoes also are required in mustard pickle recipes. Running the gamut from entree to dessert, tomatoes also appear in pie and as tomato preserves.

Having progressed thus far in the tomato eulogy your friend of cooking school days discovers that National Tomato week was overlooked in these columns. Yes here is another coast to coast celebration to add to the growing list. The week was observed May 30 to June 3 when the fourth annual Jacksonville [illegible] festival was observed.

Twenty-five states of the nation produce tomatoes in commercial quantities. Texas ranks second only to California in total production [illegible] and [illegible] other large producers. Texas growers alone receive between ,000,000 and $2,500,000 for their annual crop.

RECIPE REQUESTS ANSWERED HERE

Tomato Jelly Salad

Three tablespoons gelatine, one-half cup cold water, one quart tomatoes, canned or fresh, two [illegible] three slices onion, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one teaspoon sugar, one tablespoon chopped green pepper, two tablespoons chopped celery, one tablespoon chopped parsley and one cup shredded cabbage.

Soak the gelatine in the cold water for five minutes. Boil the tomatoes and onion for five minutes, drain through a fine sieve, pour the hot tomato juice over the softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add the salt and sugar and chill. When the gelatine mixture is partly set add the finely chopped vegetables and mix well. Add more salt if needed. If the mixture is not tart enough add a little lemon juice or vinegar. Pour into wet cold custard cups or into one large mold and chill in refrigerator until set. Turn out on crisp greens and serve with any desired dressing. Watercress is decorative with this salad.

Tomato Gumbo

Brown the following ingredients in a [illegible] for [illegible] in butter. One small [illegible] one small onion, one small green pepper, all cut into small squares. Add three tablespoons flour and saute for another two minutes, stirring slowly.

Then add eight cups of water or [illegible] and three okras cut into small [illegible] and cook slowly for 15 minutes. Next add one pound [illegible] cut up [illegible] cook [illegible] additional 10 minutes. Season to taste, using [illegible] if liked. Six servings.

Sweet Milk Biscuits

During the [illegible] season when [illegible] fresh [illegible] is available [illegible] and when [illegible] breads are in demand with salad dishes it is convenient to have a recipe at hand for sweet milk and sour milk biscuits. Sweet ones come first of course.

Two cups flour, three-fourths teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, four tablespoons shortening, sweet milk to make soft dough (approximately two-thirds cup).

Sift the flour, salt and baking powder together. Add the shortening and cut or rub it into the flour. Add the milk to make a soft dough. Roll one-half inch thick, cut and bake in a hot oven 400 to 450 degrees F.

Sour Milk Biscuits

Two cups flour, one-half teaspoon soda, two-thirds teaspoon salt, four tablespoons shortening, buttermilk (or sour milk) to make soft dough (approximately three-fourths cup).

Sift the flour, soda and salt together. Add the shortening and cut or rub it into the flour. Add milk to make a soft dough. Knead lightly, roll one-half inch thick, cut and bake in a hot oven 400 to 450 degrees F. Do not grease the pan or sheet upon which the biscuits are to be baked.

Honey Cake

One-half cup shortening, one cup honey, one egg, one-half cup sour milk, two cups flour, one teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon each ginger and cinnamon, one-eighth teaspoon salt.

Cream shortening and honey, add egg and beat. Sift dry ingredients, add alternately with milk. Bake 40 minutes at 360 degrees F. The honey keeps this cake moist for a long period.

A hand [illegible] compressed air gun has been invented for forcing obstructions out of clogged drain pipes.

Popular Melon Trio Aids in Summer Menu Plans

MELLOWNESS IN SPHERES

Balls of honeydew melon and fresh red raspberries lend savor to a lemon gelatin mold. Crisp leaves of lettuce filled with additional melon balls are grouped around the mold.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Associated Press Writer

Nothing is easier to serve as a summer dessert than the popular melon trio—cantaloupe, watermelon and honeydew. Their gay colors and enticing flavors make them especially attractive.

Pick the well-formed melons of moderate size. Good cantaloupes and honeydews have a distinctive melon aroma. Watermelons may be plugged by purchasers who want to test their flavor.

Wrap In Waxed Paper

Wrap each melon in waxed paper to prevent the aroma from penetrating other foods and store it in the refrigerator. (It is much better to store melons in a cool spot for several hours than to cut them in halves and fill those halves with chopped ice. The melting ice destroys much of the flavor.)

A combination of honeydew, watermelon and cantaloupe balls, strips or cubes makes a delicious appetizer or dessert. Served alone the flavor of the honeydew is [illegible] if [illegible] lime is offered with it.

Cantaloupe Rings

Cantaloupe rings are effective desserts. Cut the melon into one-inch crossways slices, place the flat slices up on a serving platter and fill the centers of the slices with berries, pineapple, watermelon balls, sherbet or lime ice cream.

Watermelon [illegible] in halves and then in wedges. It may, however, be served in [illegible] ways, sliced or cut into small [illegible] and filled with fruits, berries or balls from other melons.

Try [illegible] chilled [illegible] balls with grape juice, ginger ale, orange or raspberry juice for a refreshing drink. The drink should be served almost frozen to really bring out the delicate flavors.

Mint also harmonizes with melons. [illegible] in a thin [illegible] syrup [illegible] strain the syrup and [illegible] melon slices or balls.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Harry and Dicky Finally Appear on Veranda

LILLIAN'S FACE could have served as an inspiration for an artist wishing to depict maternal pride and love as she looked at her young daughter crossing the veranda with her roommate in her train. I know that every time she looks at Marion and realizes what a winsome young woman she is—as beautiful in character as she is in face and figure and inheriting her mother's wit and charm—she feels that fate is making up to her in part for the cruel years when she was separated from her only child.

She has been an ideal mother to my notion. Never the martinet, treating the child almost from babyhood as a person entitled to consideration and respect, jesting with her in a way which would have made her own maternal ancestors whirl in their graves, she yet has so held her daughter to her own high standards of conduct as to make it most unlikely that Marion will ever forsake her mother's ideals.

I knew that she loved and had fostered the camaraderie that lay beneath Marion's pert query and her answer was prompt and in kind.

"For once in your life, dearest, you have stated a case correctly," she said with a mischievous smile. "This is a strictly private joke between your Auntie Madge and me, nobody else allowed in on it, so don't waste time over it."

"Not us—neither will we weep," Marion retorted with a shrug which I knew was a mannerism copied at great pains from her mother. "Keep your old jokes, be as snooty as you like and see if we even stop smiling. Come on, Carolyn, grin for the ladies and show 'em how independent we are."

Carolyn Impatient

Carolyn's smile held a modicum of impatience and I saw her looking at either side of the cabin.

"Don't be as funny as you can," she advised crisply. "You might make your mother or Auntie Madge strain a muscle or something trying to be appreciative and laugh at you. Where do you suppose those boys are? They ought to be camping on the doorstep waiting for us."

It was the airiest sort of banter, but I saw Lillian glance sharply at her and knew that she shared the thought which came to me. This was Carolyn's attitude toward young men. While attractive and alluring when moderated, it could easily become repellent to a thinking young man.

My friend's eyes met mine significantly and she gave an infinitesimal shrug. What was the [illegible] during this span of life when most of the [illegible] collegians dancing attendance upon pretty girls simply adore being the dust beneath their chariot wheels?

"Seeing that you yourselves warned them to keep away until you were arrived for the evening, they probably are camping on their own doorstep," I said dryly. "But hist! I think I hear voices. Your swains are at the door."

"And how," Carolyn said impishly under her breath as the boys came in with a bit of swagger more pronounced in Hank than in Bill. Lillian and I exchanged quick smiles which we were careful not to let the quartet see. The boys were keyed up especially Hank to a high pitch and I knew that we could expect showing off in a sublimated small boy fashion during the stay of the girls with us.

It was just as well, I thought, and was sure that Lillian agreed with me, to keep the conversation in her hands and mine for the next few minutes until the boys oriented themselves and became a bit used to the stimulus of the girls' presence.

"I wonder where our swains are?" I said lightly. "They're not so prompt as these younger men."

Lillian caught my cue and returned it.

"I told you they were catching up the threads of several weeks' knitting. They won't be a bit [illegible] about [illegible] over and drag them [illegible] by the hair."

"But they're here now. They were right behind us," Hank said, and I knew by the grin on his face and Bill's that Harry and Dicky, just rounding the corner of the house, had heard Lillian's [illegible] and the boys were aware of their knowledge.

FRUIT SALAD BIG HOT WEATHER AID

Fruit salad solves many a luncheon and bridge entertainment problem during the hot weather.

There are endless varieties and fruit combinations. It is nice to vary the dressing [illegible] using a mixture of fruit juices rather than whipped cream. Preference to those who are reducing.

If you are uncertain of the tastes of your guests it is [illegible] to pass a whipped cream dressing in a separate bowl. Another good idea is to beat a tablespoon of orange juice into the mayonnaise, adding a few drops of lemon if a tart dressing is preferred.

Bananas, slices, pears, apples and melon will not turn dark if marinated immediately with a few drops of lemon. For a favorite special occasion salad combine the fruits in a bowl and cover with a mixture of orange and lemon juice or pineapple and lemon juice and chill thoroughly before serving with a garnish of crisp green.

[illegible] coffee with [illegible] till four [illegible] of this refreshing entertainment.

Oranges are [illegible] and they all reflect flavor and important vitamins. [illegible] A good basic recipe for this season is [illegible] California [illegible] three-fourths cup [illegible] one-half cup seeded fresh cherries or seedless grapes, three tablespoons lemon [illegible] one tablespoon orange juice. Apricots, peaches or pears are excellent in this combination.

KIPLING'S STORY OF ATLANTIC FISHING FLEET AT PALACE

Freddie Bartholomew, playing the role of an American boy for the first time, is transformed from a pampered millionaire's son into a courageous manly youth in "Captains Courageous," Rudyard Kipling's thrilling sea drama showing through Tuesday at the Palace.

The method of his transformation, the men who bring it about and the intense interest and color of the picture rank it as an A-1 bet for a rating as one of the 10 best pictures of the year.

A star-laden cast includes Spencer Tracy in an excellent characterization of Manuel, a Portuguese fisherman; Lionel Barrymore as the veteran Captain Disko; Melvyn Douglas as Freddie's millionaire father; John Carradine as Long Jack, a somewhat villainous seaman; Charley Grapewin as a Vermont farmer turned fisherman, and many others.

The merits of the film include some of the best sea shots ever filmed, particularly those of a race between two fishing schooners, actual shots of the Gloucester, Mass., fishing fleet out for cod and a dramatic portrayal of young Bartholomew's hero worship for Spencer Tracy.

Bartholomew falls overboard from a luxurious liner while sailing to Europe with his father. He is picked up from the sea by Tracy who takes him to the fishing schooner "We're Here." Freddie immediately begins ordering the captain and crew about, demanding they take him to Europe or New York. Captain Disko tries to explain to him that they have three months of arduous fishing yet to do but the spoiled youngster cannot understand.

Discipline, hard work and Freddie's deeply instilled affection for Manuel finally bring about his regeneration. The picture is a faithful translation of the Kipling story and cannot help putting its three stars in the highest ranks of Hollywood's famous.

"Little Hiawatha," a Disney silly symphony, and a Grantland Rice sportlight complete the bill.

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD

(Copyright, 1937, Marie de Nervaud)

SYNOPSIS: Josh Hastings, owner of the Flying Six, tries to buy Kay Crandon's Lazy Nine after her ranch house and barn burn. He also tries to court Kay, but she distrusts him and is determined to keep her ranch. Ted Gaynor, a puncher she impulsively hired, sets the outfit to cut its own timber and rebuild without pay. Hastings' cowhand, Scrap Johnson, molests Kay, but Ted rescues her and whips Scrap. Later they shoot it out at the divide, wounding each other. Hastings, who hates both men, finds them and murders Scrap, using Ted's gun to frame him. Ted crawls to a shack where a girl takes him in.

CHAPTER 23

A Moonlight Ride

IT was quite dark when Kay clattered up to the Flying Six ranch house. At her whoopee, Babs and Ruth came dashing out. Dismounting, she met them at the foot of the steps, and they all three burst into the living room together, their arm intertwined.

"Well, well, bless me if you don't all look the same age!" Josh Hastings got up and came toward them. Though he addressed the whole trio, his eyes were fixed on Kay, with her bright eyes and flushed cheeks framed in a tousled mop of auburn curls.

Kay instantly straightened up and smoothed her hair. It was all she could do to repress the angry contempt and scorn she felt for this man, who had tried by such sneaking means to get the best of her, but she realized that for the moment, at least, she must act as though nothing had happened to change her usual attitude toward him.

"Where've you been all day?" Aunt Kate's querulous question broke the awkward moment, and Kay turned to her with relief.

"I was terribly sorry not to get over sooner," she contritely went over and kissed her, "but I was waiting around for Ted Gaynor to come back with his mother and sister."

A curious pause followed these words, and something made Kay glance up keenly at Josh Hastings. His eyes were narrowed on her with an enigmatic stare, and a half smile twisted his lips into a sinister line.

Kay felt a cold unreasoning clutch at her spine. With great difficulty, she repressed the involuntary shudder that contracted her muscules.

The memory of that premonition she had had when Ted said goodby to her flashed over her again, but she sternly ignored it. No matter what Josh Hastings had tried to do to her, she couldn't blame him for Ted's failure to appear! She at least had to be fair enough to admit that.

"I reckon you've made a mistake, taking on that man and a whole parcel of relatives," Aunt Kate broke through the strained moment. "It'll be a good thing if he doesn't show up at all."

Josh Hastings let out a great guffaw. "Trust Aunt Kate to hit the nail on the head!" he exclaimed, with indulgent appreciation. "She's said a mouthful!"

"Sure I have," Aunt Kate agreed complacently, a pleased smile on her lips at the flattery of her host's glance.

"Perhaps I have made a mistake," Kay obeyed a sudden mischievous impulse. "If they weren't coming, you and Babs could come back now and have that cabin."

"Well, seein' you've promised it to them, I reckon you'll have to see it through."

Kay smiled at Aunt Kate's hurried change of tactics, as she saw herself transferred from the comfort of her present quarters to the rigors of the pioneer life in a small cabin.

"How about that timberland you were thinking of buying the last time you were here?" Josh Hastings' tone was elaborately careless as he put this question, but his eyes were alert as he studied Kay's expression to try to discover whether Scrap Johnson had told her what his errand to town that day had been.

The fact that Kay had come over to the Flying Six would seem to indicate that she had not discovered his effort to double-cross her, but Josh Hastings was eager to get this point cleared up. If Scrap had told her, he'd have quite a bit of explaining to do, and he had a plausible yarn all ready. But if she knew nothing about it, his best line obviously was to let well enough alone.

"Oh, yes, I was telling you about that!" Kay met his glance with wide-eyed innocence. "I bought it up. In fact, one of my punchers was in town attending to it for me that afternoon I was here. Didn't I mention it?"

"No, you didn't." Josh Hastings' efforts to conceal his feelings were less successful than Kay's, and she smiled inwardly at his disgusted tone.

"Well, if you take my advice, you'll sell out while you've got a chance." Aunt Kate put in her word. "Josh Hastings, here, is giving you the best offer you're likely to get."

"Perhaps." Kay turned to the door to hide the flash of anger she felt against her aunt for being such an easy tool in Josh Hastings' hands. "I'll have to be getting back now."

"I'm going with you," Josh Hastings announced.

"No, you mustn't!" Kay expostulated, angry at herself for not having foreseen this outcome of her visit. "I'd rather go alone! It's moonlight, and I'm not the least bit afraid."

"That's not the point." Josh Hastings reached up for his hat and coat. "I'm doing this for my own pleasure."

Realizing that she was fairly caught, and that to protest further would be to attach undue importance to the situation, Kay gave in as gracefully as she could. After saying goodnight to Babs and her aunt, the two started off together.

For some time they rode through the moonlight without saying anything. As he had insisted on coming, Kay decided to leave the burden of the conversation to him, and the magic of the night inevitably drew her thoughts to Ted Gaynor.

The long rolling reaches of the mesa stretched out in silver radiance before them, broken only by ghostly clumps of brush, with their weird twisted shadows, lengthening in the moonlight.

If only Ted had come when he had said he would, she would be taking this ride with him instead of Josh Hastings, Kay reflected, with a renewed wave of disappointment.

"It's an Ugly Story"

As though reading her thoughts, her companion suddenly broke the long silence, chiming in with what she was thinking with an uncanny insight.

"Your Aunt Kate was right about that Gaynor guy, Kay." His tone was full of a friendly protection. "There are a few things I want to tell you about him, and then I think that you'll agree with her."

"Yes?" Kay waited non-committally for what he had to say, although her eyes held a hostile disbelief of whatever it might be.

"I'm surprised that he'd have the nerve to come to any range where he knew I was," Josh Hastings went on, "but I reckon he won't stay long, even if he does show up—which I doubt."

"Why?"

Josh Hastings hesitated, then spoke with a show of reluctance. "It's an ugly story, but I think you ought to know it, for your own protection. When I had my ranch over in the Clear Water basin, this Gaynor was punching for Old Man Gage on the N Bar L. He was involved in a rustling raid of his boss's cattle, and the shooting of his son."

He paused a moment, then added, "There was a girl mixed up in it, too, but I won't go into that."

"You may as well give me the whole story, now you've started!" Kay's voice was coldly unconvinced and Josh Hastings flared up at her implied disbelief.

"Just a pretty case of getting the girl in trouble and then deserting her." Josh Hastings shot a sidelong look at Kay to get her reaction to this news, and as he caught the quick look of surprised unbelief, he added, "She committed suicide."

"How do you know that Ted Gaynor was responsible?" Kay demanded hotly. The story was certainly ugly, but she found it impossible to associate it with Ted. He couldn't have been guilty of a thing like that! It sounded much more like the sort of thing Josh Hastings himself would be capable of.

"It was common talk," Hastings answered her indignant question with a more tolerant tone. "I don't wonder you are startled. But now you can see the probable reason for his disappearance. He knew you'd hear his story sooner or later from me, and figured he'd better clear out while the going was good."

For several moments they rode on in silence, then Kay said slowly, "I'm certainly not going to condemn anyone by 'common talk' and rumor. You ought to have something more tangible to go on, before you spread a story like that to ruin a man's reputation."

Josh Hastings gave a short laugh. "I must say your confidence in me isn't any too flattering."

"Would you repeat that story to Ted Gaynor's face?" Kay demanded.

"Sure I would! But don't worry —I won't have to," Hastings sneered. "Take my word for it, that talk about showing up again with his mother and sister was all one grand bluff."

Kay made no answer, but she touched Flicker with her heel, and set a sharper pace for home. She didn't for one minute believe Josh Hastings' story, but she was animated by a sudden imperative desire to get rid of his hateful presence.

Josh Hastings forces his kisses on Kay, tomorrow.

County's Traffic Death Rate in 1936 Ran High

Marion county's 1936 traffic death rate was more than four times as great as the average for other counties of between 25,000 and 50,000 population, according to the annual statistical report of the National Safety Council, a non-profit organization for reduction of accidents on the highway, in the home and in the factory.

The rate of traffic deaths in Marion county per 100,000 population in 1936 was 66.66 as compared with 15.3 for the average county of this size. Thirty persons met death in the county last year as compared with an average of less than eight for the rest of the nation.

Last year, however, was a record year for the grim reaper on highways in the county, accounting for much of the discrepancy between Marion and other counties. In two accidents last year eight persons died.

In 1935 Marion county's fatality list was 19 for a death rate of 42 per 100,000 population.

Other interesting facts contained in the report are that accidents of all kinds cost the American people $120 a second or $3,700,000,000 for the year; that someone was killed every five minutes; that of 111,000 killed, 35 per cent were in the home, 34 per cent on the highway, 18 per cent in public (not motor vehicles) and 18,000 at work; that there were about 10,000 homicides, 15,000 suicides; that 24,320 people died as a result of falls; that matches and smoking caused $15,000,000 fire loss; that agriculture with 4,300 or 25 per cent deaths leads all occupations in fatalities; that machinery and animals cause half the farm accidents.

That two out of five traffic deaths are pedestrians; that night with one-third of the traffic has two-thirds of traffic deaths; that at 50 miles an hour or more one accident in 31 is fatal, that at 20 miles an hour one in 61 is fatal; that four out of five accidents occur while driving straight ahead.

Schaffner-Denzer Funeral Home

AIR CONDITIONED For Your Comfort

Air conditioning is probably never more appreciated than during a funeral service on a hot day when nerves are already near the breaking point. A gentle circulation of cooler air then means much to both the family and their friends who have attended the funeral.

The Schaffner-Denzer Funeral Home has large air conditioning units in both the Reception and main Assembly Room. On even the hottest day the air can be kept comfortably cool.

Having an air conditioned funeral home is in keeping with the ideals of better service that have guided this organization for three generations. And those ideals together with fine equipment and understanding personal service have earned the Schaffner-Denzer reputation for fine funeral service.

Anyone desiring information is invited to call for a frank discussion of funeral service and its cost. We also invite advance arrangements. Those who find it inconvenient to call may send for our free booklet, "Facts About Funerals."

FELLER, TRIBE FALL BEFORE TIGERS, 3-2; REDS BLANK CARDS

Cleveland's Mystery Boy Loses Own Game by Erratic Pitching

BY SID FEDER

The case of Bobby Feller—or what's a fast ball—bobbed up today as the year's most baffling baseball mystery.

One whispered suggestion was heard today that a season of seasoning of the minor league variety might do something toward solving the problem—that a few months in fast class AA company might teach young Bobby the tricks of the trade and make him pay dividends.

He has shown in his last two starts what a whale of a difference just a little experience might make. He has pitched fine ball but has lost both decisions through no one's fault but his own.

Bob made his first start last week since the spring fuss of the campaign and lost the ball game because of his own fielding error [illegible] to a [illegible] base. Yesterday, his second time out, he and the tribe dropped a 3-2 decision to the Detroit Tigers largely because he has as much control as a cross-eyed man in target practice.

Although he pitched two-hit ball his own wildness really lost the ball game. A walk set up the first Tiger run. A wild pitch scored the second and two passes in a row made the third a simple matter.

The victory thus handed the Tigers boosted them back into second place in the American league since the Chicago White Sox were unable to get better than an even break with the St. Louis Browns, winning the nightcap 1-3 after dropping the opener 4-1.

Over in the National League the Giants put on a timely surge to come within half a game of overhauling the pace-setting Chicago Cubs. The New Yorkers belted their arch-rivals, the Brooklyn Dodgers, in a doubleheader, winning the opener 10-1 after clubbing Van Mungo out and the nightcap 5-1.

The Cubs saw their lead cut to the [illegible] minimum by dropping a [illegible] decision to Bill Swift and [illegible] Pittsburgh Pirates.

Most astonishing result of the day was the [illegible] of white-wash the Cincinnati Reds applied to the [illegible] Cardinals. Peaches Davis blanked them 6-0 in the opener and Al Hollingsworth repeated 7-0 in the afterpiece.

The New York Yankees ran their streak to eight games without a defeat by nosing out the Senators 4-3 in the first game of their twin bill and coming from behind to tie the nightcap at [illegible] all just before darkness halted it in the ninth.

Boston's Red Sox had a snap against the Athletics, winning 9-4 and 8-2. The Phillies pounded the Boston Bees 10-4 in their opener and then dropped a 1-0 heartbreaker to Lou Fette in the 13 inning nightcap.

TOMORROW TO BRING MANSFIELD RED SOX TO LINCOLN STADIUM

Home Team Remains 4½ Games Behind Leaders Despite Three Victories

Turning in three victories in four weekend games, Marion's Ohio State league baseball team today looked forward with eagerness to entertaining the league leading Mansfield Red Sox at Lincoln park tomorrow afternoon. Marion split in a Saturday double header with Fremont, dropping the first game 8 to 5 and taking the nightcap 10 to 8, and yesterday swept through both ends of a twin bill with Fostoria, winning 5 to 4 and 17 to 5.

Because the top-leading Mansfield Red Sox yesterday likewise won both ends of a double header, Marion's position in the standings remains at four and one-half games out of first place. Mansfield downed Tiffin 11 to 3 and eked out a 3 to 2 win in the two contests on the [illegible] home field yesterday.

Cecil [illegible] Slim Mann's Marion [illegible] his first start in eight games against the heavy [illegible] Fremont outfit in Saturday's first game but came back in yesterday's [illegible] Spears and receive credit for his eighth pitching victory [illegible] defeat. [illegible] with one [illegible] game [illegible] Johnny Birch turned in one of the [illegible] ever [illegible] Lost [illegible] seats [illegible].

100 Fans Present

Despite extremely hot weather only 600 fans witnessed Marion [illegible] victories while only 100 were present for the Saturday afternoon [illegible]. [illegible] the [illegible] of Marion fans during his first performance in organized baseball. He hit twice in six attempts, scored one run and was credited with five put outs.

Euler pulled the most sensational play of the Sunday games in the seventh inning of the final game. With one runner on and [illegible], Kravis, Fostoria leftfielder, slapped the ball for what looked like a home run over the left field fence. Running at top speed and leaping into the air, Euler caught the ball just before it would have struck the barrier. [illegible] came up with the ball for the put out.

Going Is Close

The visiting [illegible] tied the score in each of the first two innings [illegible] Marion was able to score in the first game yesterday. With [illegible] by Swell and Kauffman [illegible] with a pair of [illegible] Marion tied the count in the third inning and took over a one run lead with a lone tally in the [illegible]. Richie Birch [illegible] in the fifth with a double but [illegible] into the centerfield fence. Stiewe walked and Euler singled the run across the plate.

[illegible] the [illegible] came back with a pair in eighth to regain the lead but only briefly when the home team scored in the last of the inning. [illegible] Swell [illegible] the [illegible] Zachritz tripled his [illegible] Geygan walked, Kauffman sacrificed [illegible] had a fielder's choice [illegible] scored Swell and Johnny Birch came through with a single that [illegible] Geygan across for the winning run.

Marion got out its big bats in the second game, nicking four Red [illegible] hurlers for 14 hits. Meene started for the visitors but pitched to only three batters before being [illegible]. Scott was blasted from the mound in the fourth and his successor, Rutledge, lasted but one inning. In desperation Manager Rex Brown finally went to the hill to face the murderous row of the Marion club.

Bowen walked the first batter to face him, Mann struck out, Stiewe walked, Euler and then with the bases loaded [illegible] Platek, right fielder, cracked out a circuit drive over the rightfield fence. Bowen during his brief stay on the mound fanned [illegible] batter, walked two, allowed two hits and three runs. The Marion batters took it easy in the [illegible] game. Stanley starting but relinquishing the mound to Mann with one out in the third.

Slugging Wins

Fremont outslugged Marion 11 to 10 in the first game Saturday afternoon. Marion [illegible] 3 to 1 at the end of the third but the Reds belted the offerings of Slim Mann for five hits to score two runs each in the fifth and sixth innings. The Geyganites succeeded in knotting the count in the seventh and it was a nine inning [illegible].

CALIFORNIAN WINS OHIO TENNIS TITLE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 12 — Tall Frank Kovacs, 17-year-old Oakland, Cal. star, held today the Ohio men's singles tennis crown and shared with another Californian the doubles championship.

Kovacs overwhelmed Walter Senior of San Francisco 6-2, 6-2, 6-2 yesterday in the finals of the state matches and then teamed with his defeated foe to win the doubles title by whipping George Toley of San Francisco and John Moreno of Los Angeles.

The Ohio women's championship was taken by Virginia Hollinger of Dayton, who won over Edna Smith of Cleveland 6-1, 6-1.

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

By EDDIE BRIETZ

Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, July 12.—Max Schmeling has no one but himself to blame that Tommy Farr is not going to fight him in London but is coming here to meet Joe Louis instead. When they got the boys together Max agreed to $200,000 as his end, and Farr [illegible]. Then Max changed himself [illegible] [illegible] $30,000, which the promoters decided to [illegible] Farr [illegible]. Leaving the Seahman [illegible] fighter, the British [illegible] has [illegible] with a promise of [illegible] $40,000. Nobody can blame Tommy for deciding to take a walk on [illegible].

JACK CURLEY, CHIEF U. S. PROMOTER, DIES

Developed Wrestling Stages Wide Range of Events

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 12—Jack Curley, one of the country's leading sports promoters, died suddenly at his Great Neck, Long Island home [illegible] of heart disease. He was [illegible] a veteran of 30 years in sports promotion.

Although wrestling was his favorite and most lucrative field, Curley's experience covered a wide range. He promoted the Havana bout in which Jess Willard won the heavyweight boxing championship from Jack Johnson, staged bicycle fights and [illegible] public appearances of Annette Kellerman, Enrico Caruso, William Jennings Bryan, Rudolph Valentino and [illegible] Georges Carpentier, the French fighter, and William Tilden.

Curley appeared to be in good health yesterday, though [illegible] he became ill and died at 12:45 p. m. (EDT). An inhalator was used unsuccessfully. He is survived by his widow and two children, Jack and Jean.

Born in Strasbourg, Alsace, as Jacques Armand Schuel, Curley came to this country as a youth and renamed himself after his [illegible].

Daily Pattern for Home Use

BY ANNE ADAMS

DELIGHTFUL IN A COLORFUL COTTON

A bright way to solve that "midsummer frock" problem is with this feminine style! There's no better way to keep your spirits up when it's "ninety in the shade" than by slipping into this frilly frock that's a dream of daintiness and frills. Ideal for parties, teas and lively festivities—your puffed or ruffled sleeves, interesting yoke and flared skirt will receive admiration on every occasion. Every "twelve to twenty" will want more than one version of Pattern 4454 made up in crisp cottons that are so popular with the "younger set" today! Try cool cotton lawn, organdy, eyelet batiste, or [illegible].

Pattern 4454 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 takes 1⅞ yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send Fifteen Cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Summer chic — yours! Send for our new Anne Adams Pattern Book and see how easily you can stitch up the newest, smartest outfits from the easiest patterns ever seen! No matter how inexperienced at sewing, you will want to make these lovely afternoon frocks, party styles, morning models! Variety and flattery for growing-up and grown-up! Book Fifteen cents. Pattern Fifteen cents. Twenty-Five cents for both when ordered together.

Send your order to The Marion Star, Pattern Department, 243 W. 17th St., New York, N. Y.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, July 13.

JUDGING BY the very propitious aspects of the "major benefics" of astrologers, this should be a day of great progress and prosperity, with many excellent opportunities for bettering the position and increasing the fortunes as well as enhancing the social and affectional [illegible]. It is a very warming and expanding influence, affecting all the departments of life. It promises happy culminations of cherished plans and long ambitions. However, there is a thwarting or delaying influence to be handled with patience, determination and wisdom.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of much accomplishment and gratification, with the plans definitely [illegible], ambitions fulfilled and important affairs under an exacting and very promising stimulus. It is a time for reaching to high goals, in business, private and affectional lives, despite the menace of an impeding or disappointing occurrence, which must be met with resolution and sagacity.

A child born on this day may be versatile, capable, progressive and ambitious, although [illegible], painstaking and steadfast. It should be personally popular and may probably attain position in business and social lives.

An increase in production of from [illegible] per cent was recorded last year by Ontario's chemical industry, about one half of all such [illegible] in Canada being manufactured in that province.

STRIKE PEACE BOOSTS STEEL

U. S. Steel Crosses 111 Mark After Gain of 3 Points; Increases General.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 12—With U. S. Steel crossing 111, its best level for the recent recovery, for a gain of around 3 points, stock market leaders today took a turn for the better.

While the rally lacked speed general gains of fractions to 2 or more points were well distributed near the fourth hour.

Grains dipped and other commodities were mixed. Bonds were without definite trends.

Merchandising, farm implement and aircraft issues were in the forefront of the advance. Many utilities and rails did little either way.

Besides "big steel," prominent on the upside were Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, International Harvester, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Chrysler and General Electric.

Apparent settlement of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube strike helped bolster sentiment. Wall Street continued to feel most labor controversies would be ironed out soon.

In the matter of U. S. Steel, some analytical quarters estimated second quarter profits of the corporation would top $3 a common share. With prospects for steel makers reasonably bright for the rest of the year, it was predicted the small amount now owed by "X" on its accumulated preferred would be cleared up in the near future and the junior issue placed on a dividend basis.

The probability of bumper spring wheat crops attracted attention to farm machinery and mail order stocks.

Encouraging to holders of the steels was the survey of the magazine "Steel" which expressed the opinion backlogs in this industry will easily span the summer months.

Better buying was noted for heavy steel, and some early placements of sheets, strips and bars, it was disclosed, were being made for 1938 models of automobiles.

"Railroads," it was added, "have placed substantial orders for rails and rolling stock. Structurals are being placed in large tonnages, especially in the west. A leading steel maker shipped more tonnage in June than in May."

DULL CROP OUTLOOK HIKES WHEAT PRICES

Canadian Reports of Damage by Heat and Black Rust Affect Market.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 12—Pessimistic crop advices from Canada and from domestic spring wheat states made wheat values rule materially higher most of the time today, but profit-taking led to late reactions.

Reports of damage to spring wheat because of heat and black rust attracted the most attention. It was estimated 20 loads of United States hard winter wheat were sold today for export to Europe via the Gulf of Mexico.

At the close, wheat was ¾@1½ under Saturday's finish, July 1.20, Sept. 1.21¾@⅞, corn ¾@3¾ down, July 1.26½@⅝, Sept. 1.12¾@1.12½, and oats ¾@1¾ off.

Wool Market

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, July 12—The deliveries of wool stored in Boston warehouses were resumed today following a settlement last last week of the strike of wool handlers. New business in wool, however, continues to drag. The price situation was unchanged from last week, quotations remaining largely nominal in view of the lack of trading.

RAINBOW VETERANS OF NATION CONVENE

Nineteenth Annual Reunion Opens in Columbus; Auxiliary Also in Session.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 12—A bit more gray but just as gay, veterans of the U. S. army's celebrated Rainbow Division opened their 19th annual reunion here today.

Ex-soldiers from 26 states and the District of Columbia were to take part in the three days of business and fun-making on the schedule.

Meetings of the organization's auxiliary also opened today. Both organizations joined in a reception last night.

Concluding the reunion Wednesday will be a fireworks display along the Scioto river waterfront to commemorate the division's participation in the Battle of Champagne in France.

It was on July 14, 1918, that the division took up the Champagne Marne defensive which continued four days. The troops emerged victorious.

Another event of Wednesday will be the unveiling of a bronze plaque in honor of the late Col. Benson W. Hough of Columbus, first president of the veterans' organization, in the rotunda of the state capitol.

Wilbur M. Brucker, former governor of Michigan who served under Col. Hough, will be the principal speaker at the ceremonies.

Election of officers also will be held on the final day.

FARMER HURT IN FALL OFF WAGON

Jacob Hummer, 56, a farmer of near Green Camp, was injured after falling off a hay wagon. He was brought to the City hospital late and placed in a cast last night. Although his condition was "not very good" last night he was better this morning and his general condition was regarded as good, the hospital reported.
